YANK FORCES CRACKING CHERBOURG LINE

AMERICANS POUND HALF WAY ACROSS CAPE AFTER CAPTURE OF VITAL TOWN OF CARENTAN

German High Command Concedes Evacuation of Important Peninsula Defense Center as British Batter Nine Miles East of Caen

PERCE ARMORED COUNTER ATTACK BY ROMMEL

By JAMES M. LONG

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, June 12—(AP)—American troops have driven 18 miles inland in the middle of the Normandy beachhead, capturing the whole forest of Cerisy, and the German high command said today the strategic stronghold of Carentan had fallen to U. S. forces.

The smashing advance through the Cerisy forest punctured the deepest dent yet in the Nazi line.

Doughboys were converging on St. Lo, communications hub in the center of Normandy, less than nine miles away, from the north and east.

Headquarters did not confirm the fall of Carentan, guarding the narrowest neck of Cherbourg peninsula, but said Americans were within 14 miles of Cherbourg from the northeast, and had launched halfway across the cape, threatening to seal off the tip.

German broadcasts said Caen, eastern bastion of the 60-mile long front, was menaced by encirclement—with British troops slashing nine miles east of the city.

The Germans said Carentan, whose floodgates control the main peninsular water defense system, was evacuated in order to continue stand on ground less exposed to Allied naval guns.

As for Caen, German broadcasts said that a British drive had reached nearly to Troarn, nine miles due east of that bastion, and that Allied paratroopers had landed south of Caen. British troops were driving down west of Caen threatening the other flank.

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel has counted his fiercest armored counter-attacks in this Caen sector, and Berlin said major British forces were concentrating for a full-fledged assault on the town.

In the center of the 50-mile-long front, American troops were advancing toward St. Lo, a prize communications hub 20 miles inland.

As the American frontal attack across the Merderet river on Cherbourg peninsula reached within 12 miles of the west coast roads—those capture would seal off Cherbourg—Vichy radio said Doughboys had pushed into Quineville in the east coast.

Fifth Army Occupies Montefiascone While Eighth Advances on Both Sides of Tiber

ENEMY IS DISPERSED

By EDWARD KENNEDY

Rome, June 12—(P)—Fifth Army troops have occupied Montefiascone, an important road junction near the shores of Lake Bracciano, and other columns rushing along the Italian west coast are approaching Orbetello, 71 miles northwest of Rome, Allied headquarters announced today.

Eighth Army columns advancing up both sides of the Tiber river and Rieti east of it.

In the mountainous central sector, Avezzano and its neighboring villages have been occupied while in the Adriatic sector all Germans have been cleared from the area south of the Pescara river and Allied troops have pushed ahead to (Turn to Page Nine)

Russians Drive 15 Miles In Offensive Against Finland

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

Moscow, June 12—(P)—Launching a major offensive designed to knock Finland out of the war and isolate approximately 100,000 Nazi troops in the northern part of that country, the Red army rolled forward along the Karelian Isthmus, above Leningrad today after cracking Finnish defenses on a 25-mile front.

A communique last night announcing the new drive said Soviet troops already had advanced 12 to 15 miles, and indicated they were moving forward fast everywhere.

This offensive evidently was coordinated closely with Allied operations in France, and represented a step in the grand Allied strategy worked out at the Tehran conference.

Troops under Col. Gen. Leonid Govorov, who lifted the siege of Leningrad, launched the push Fri-

Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, June 12—(P)—pening the aerial prelude to the battle for the Philippines, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's land-based operators destroyed 22 grounded Japanese planes in their first daylight raid on Palau, south eastern guardian of the former American archipelago.

Driving from newly-acquired bases in the Dutch New Guinea area, headquarters announced today, the Fifth Army air force bombers also blew up many buildings near the Palau airdrome Friday.

Palau, at the western end of the Caroline islands, is only 65 miles southeast of the Philippines.

President Reports on Plans To Care For Refugees of War

Washington, June 12—(P)—President Roosevelt told congress today that as a final Nazi defeat approaches, "the fury of their insane desire to wipe out the Jewish race in Europe continues undiminished."

"This is but one example," Mr. Roosevelt said in transmitting a report on arrangements for caring for war refugees. "Many Christian groups also are being murdered."

"Knowing that they have lost the war, the Nazis are determined to complete their program of mass extermination. This program is but one manifestation of Hitler's aim to salvage from military defeat the victory for Nazi principles—the very principles which this war must destroy unless we shall have fought in vain."

The president outlined recently-completed arrangements to bring about 1,000 refugees to this country for temporary housing in a military camp near Oswego, N. Y.

Facilities for caring for war refugees in southern Italy have become so overtaxed, he added, that unless arrangements to move them on can be made, the escape of other refugees will be seriously impeded. Even before the Allies landed in Italy, he said, there had been a general movement of refugees from various countries into that area.

Rome is Rapidly Becoming Normal

Rome, June 12—(P)—A week of Allied occupation finds Rome topsy-turvy in some respects, but surprisingly normal in others.

The Romans by now have become accustomed to the sight of Doughboys in the streets, boisterous and friendly, and they apparently like them infinitely more (Turn to Page Nine)

Texas Revolt Has Attention Of Democrats

BULLETIN

Austin, Tex., June 12—(P)—The Texas Democratic executive committee today turned down a request by pro-Roosevelt Democrats to submit at the party primary a question of binding presidential electors to vote for the party's candidate for president.

By JACK BELL

Associated Press Staff Writer With the southern dissatisfaction assuming the proportions of an organized revolt, administration forces maneuvered today to get a set of fourth-term supporting electors on to the Texas Democratic primary ballot.

The Democratic state executive committee met in Dallas to canvass filings of state aspirants, with a demand expected from supporters of President Roosevelt that the 23 electors named by their separate convention be listed on the July 22 ballot, along with those chosen by the regular party meeting, for the people to choose between them.

Party leaders in Washington are more worried about the Texas situation than that in Mississippi and South Carolina, where somewhat similar actions have been taken by Democratic conventions, because they suspect the root of the trouble lies in the Lone Star State. Meanwhile politicians quickly interpreted the appearance of the first of a series of eight articles Wendell L. Willkie has written on his ideas for the Republican platform (Turn to Page Nine)

Texarkana's Goal Already Exceeded

Texarkana, Tex., June 12—(P)—Bedecked with flags of the United Nations, Texarkana and 20,000 visitors were off to a running start today in the $16,000,000 Fifth War Loan drive which Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., will launch nationally tonight.

The bond campaign officially opens at 10 p. m. with a four-network broadcast on which President Roosevelt will speak. Secretary Morgenthau will be the master of ceremonies.

Texarkana exceeded its goal of $4,675,000 for the Fifth War Loan drive in a gun-jumping campaign two days ago.

Treasury officials said the broadcast opening the national War Bond Campaign would contrast Nazi and Democratic philosophies and that Morgenthau would inform the nation what it will face in financing the remainder of the war.

ENCIRCLING OF CHANGSHA IS INDICATED

Japan's Determined Campaign to Seal off Eastern China Mounting Toward Climax

PACIFIC FRONT NEWS

BULLETIN

Chungking, June 12—(P)—An indication that the city of Changsha was encircled tonight in a communique of the Chinese high command which announced the Japanese were assaulting the Hunan province capital incessantly "from all directions."

By J. B. KRUEGER

Associated Press War Editor Japan's determined campaign to seal off eastern China against future Allied use mounted toward a climax today in the furious battle for Changsha.

Chinese troops ordered to fight to the last man were backed up against the outer defenses of this key link in the Hankow-Canton railway. They were resisting formidable forces which have pushed 200 miles southward from the Hankow area.

Another Japanese force, Chungking, reported, was driving northward out of Canton along the railroad, aiming at closing a vise on the oft-embattled city.

The gravity of the battle prompted Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chenault to declare the Pacific war could be prolonged for years if Japan were allowed to build a defensive wall along the railroad. The two-sided threat to Changsha, he added, had brought the China war to its most furious peak in six years.

The other four Pacific battle fronts were going well for the Allies. From New Dutch Guinea bases Allied airmen flew heavy bombers against Palau for their first daylight raid on this island group guarding the eastern Philippines. It was a portent of the new Gen. Douglas MacArthur's (Turn to Page Nine)

Dem. Leader In Luzerne Co. Passes Away

Wilkes-Barre, June 12—(P)—Dr. Leo C. Mundy, 57, who represented the 20th senatorial district in the Pennsylvania general assembly since 1936 and was Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor in 1938, died in a hospital last night, three days after he had suffered a heart attack.

A one-time reporter on the old Wilkes-Barre Leader, Dr. Mundy was cited for heroic overseas service in World War I. Entering politics after establishing a large practice as a physician and surgeon, he was a delegate to the 1932 Democratic national convention and worked actively for President Roosevelt's first nomination.

Later he was named collector (Turn to Page Nine)

Coast Towns Are Rocked By Quake

Los Angeles, June 12—(P)—A distinct earthquake of about one second's duration, swayed Los Angeles at 4:1 a. m. Pacific War Time, today, following by half an hour a sharp shock felt in Laguna Beach, Pasadena and numerous portions of Los Angeles county.

There were no immediate reports of damage.

The second shock also was noticeable in Pasadena and, in lesser intensity, in Long Beach, police said.

Sheriff's deputies at the Malibu sub-station said they believed a landslide which a few hours earlier blocked the coast highway some 37 miles north may have been caused by an earthquake.

Give "Bottom Dollar" and "Last Shirt" Author's Plea

Indianapolis, June 12—(P)—Booth Tarkington, noted Hoosier author, appealed today to citizens of the United States to give their "bottom dollar" and "last shirt" for the Fifth War Loan drive.

Tarkington wrote in part: "If for us today invasion meant the opposite of what it does mean, that is, if America instead of Europe were the direction taken by the invasion, how would we be behaving? How would we, for instance, be responding to the United States treasury's Fifth War Loan drive?"

"Of course, the answer is that, if America were being invaded we'd be giving our bottom dollar and our last shirt.

Because, naturally, we'd rather save our skin than our shirts. The rewards for patriots who support this great lasting war with War Bonds are plain. Intangibly we gain emotional steadiness that comes from a clear conscience, from knowing we have done our best with dollars to back up our men with guns.

"By buying and holding our war bonds we share in the fight, calm our own nerves, strengthen our land and, furthermore, we prepare for peace by storing up money that later when our bonds mature, we can spend for ourselves and our children at a time when peace shall have made spending useful rather than weakening and foolish.

Former Warren Griddler Is Helping County Bond Drive

A former Warren High School athlete is among the wounded war veterans who arrived in Warren yesterday and this morning launched the Fifth War Loan in Warren county.

The Warren youth is Gunner's Mate, Third Class, Frederick A. Irwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Irwin, formerly of this city. A former Dragon griddler, Irwin was also a member of the gymnastic team which took state honors in 1941.

He has been in the Navy over two years, spending eleven months in the South Pacific and three months in the South Atlantic area. He was aboard the cruiser Quincy when it was torpedoed off Guadalcanal. For the past two months he has been hospitalized at Deshon Hospital, Butler, for wounds received in the eastern theatre.

Arriving with Irwin yesterday were Sergeant Ben J. Borchert, of Cleveland, and Pfc. John J. Mascaro, of Brockway, Pa., both of whom were in the First Division and are veterans of the African and Sicilian campaigns. Sgt. Borchert has been in the army for three years and four months, 16 months of which were spent overseas. Pfc. Mascaro has been in service more than a year and a half and was with the 79th Ordnance, attached to the First Division. Both men received their wounds in the Sicilian campaign. Expected to arrive today are Staff Sergeant Thomas W. Wilson, Technical Sergeant Raymond C. Talucci and Pfc. William S. Bryant, Jr.

Irwin, Borchert and Mascaro were driven to Warren yesterday from Deshon Hospital by D. C. Smith and B. V. Lesser. (Turn to Page Two)

All day Tuesday, NBC will devote its entire schedule to bonds climaxing it with a Hollywood hour and a half at night. The network will be opened at 6 a. m. to give 21 hours on the air.

Borchert has been in the army for three years and four months, 16 months of which were spent overseas. Pfc. Mascaro has been in service more than a year and a half and was with the 79th Ordnance, attached to the First Division. Both men received their wounds in the Sicilian campaign. 25 Fishermen On Boat Are Missing

Bivalve, N. J., June 12—(P)—The fishing boat Playboy with 25 Philadelphia war workers and its two owners aboard was missing today in Delaware bay.

Port Norris police, who were notified by telephone calls from families that the men had failed to return home last night, said they believed the Playboy had developed engine trouble and was somewhere adrift in the bay. The water was calm, police said.

The war workers, employees of the S. K. F. Ball Bearing Co., Philadelphia, and Benjamin Bartley and Herbert Sterlit, owners of the power-craft, started out early yesterday morning on a fishing trip.

After the men were reported missing, state police found their five automobiles still parked near the boathouse and enlisted the aid of the searching party.

BATTLE LINES FAR IN FRANCE BEING STRAFED

Bombers and Lighter Craft Pump Steady Hail of Explosives Into Enemy Defenses

OPPOSITION INCREASES

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force June 12—(P)—U. S. pilots over France encountered today the strongest Luftwaffe resistance since the invasion began. Eighth Airforce headquarters announced tonight, but "pilots succeeded for the most part in carrying out their dive bombing and strafing missions behind German lines."

By GLADWIN HILL

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, June 12—(P)—American heavy bombers and streams of lighter craft pumped a steady hail of bombs and lead into German defenses today in the greatest aerial blows to date supporting the French invasion.

Flying in fine weather, the Allied air forces by noon had run up more sorties than all day yesterday—when 7,000 planes slammed the Germans from dawn on—after a night in which RAF bombers pounded four key rail centers in France went to Berlin—heavies, mediums, lights, fighter-bombers and fighters raced over the battlelines and far into France, bombing and strafing.

"Odd Lot" Sale Of Shoes Promised

Washington, June 12—(P)—Shoe purchasers will have a chance at about seven million pairs ration-free from July 10 to July 29 during a national "odd lot" sale, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

And the shoes must cost at least 25 per cent less than their price on June 1, OPA declared.

This "odd-lot" sale will include footwear for men and women, boys sizes 1 to 8 but not children's, misses' and little boys' shoes which were included in the temporary ration-free shoes for three weeks in May.

Less than 1.5 per cent of the estimated total supply of shoes for 1944 will be included in the July ration-free sales, OPA said.

Lt. Sasserson Missing Over Bombed Area

The War Department has notified Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sasserson, 115 Park street, that their son, Lt. Stanley Gordon Sasserson, has been missing in action in the European Area since May 27.

Formerly employed here by the Bell Telephone Company, Lt. Sasserson went overseas soon after receiving his wings and commission and is believed to have been lost on one of his first missions. It is not known just when he arrived in England, but a cablegram to Mrs. Sasserson for Mother's Day was the first word had from him from overseas. One V-Mail letter has arrived since that date.

Young Sasserson, in service a year in January, is co-pilot on a Liberator bomber.

Lt. Shepard Reported Missing in Action

Mrs. J. Ray Shepard, 205 1/2 Central avenue, received word this morning through a telegram from the War Department that her son, Lt. Clark M. Shepard, has been missing in action in Italy since May 24.

The young officer, who was advanced to first lieutenant's rating on March 31, has been in action in North Africa and participated in the landings at Salerno. He has been known to be on the Anzio beachhead in Italy for the past three months.

The last letter received by his mother was one which he had written on May 18 and just before that a May 16 communication came from him.

Urges Care Of Trucks As New Ones Scarce

Truck operators were again urged by Earl J. Donor, District Manager of the Office of Defense Transportation at Erie, today to intensify their many more miles of operation than would be required under normal conditions.

Strict adherence to a plan of systematic preventive maintenance and repair, Mr. Donor said, should prolong the life of the average truck as much as three times its ordinary span.

The truck manufacturing industry is producing this year about as many trucks as it has produced in the best of its previous years, Mr. Donor said; but most of them are for military use.

The industry's available manufacturing capacity, is large enough to produce trucks in quantity for either military or civilian use, but not in sufficient volume to meet both demands, Mr. Donor explained.

Car Topples Over Sending 2 to Hospital

The culvert at Picnic Run yesterday evening sent another car hurtling over onto its top and three lads in the machine almost miraculously escaped certain death. The machine was driven by Donald Lauffenberger, 19 of Warren RD and he was on his way to meet some person so was allegedly "stepping on the gas". Near Picnic Run in attempting to pass another car he went off the highway and careened along for about 40 feet before hitting the culvert. State police investigated the accident.

Riding in the car with Lauffenberger were Thomas Youngquist, 15, of Clarendon and Gilbert Mead, 121 North Irvine street. Youngquist sustained bruises and brush burns and was given treatment in the emergency room of the hospital while Mead was examined and it was feared that he may have sustained internal hurts. He will be given an X-ray examination today to determine the extent of his injuries.

Plans For Community Flag Day Are Reported Completed

At a meeting of the committee in charge of the community flag day exercises sponsored by the Warren Lodge of Elks held Friday evening, it was revealed that plans are practically complete for the event which will take place Wednesday evening with a parade at seven o'clock followed by exercises on the lawn at the corner of Hickory street and Fourth avenue.

Much disappointment was expressed over the fact that a number of marching units which had been expected to appear reported they would not be represented. This situation was learned with considerable surprise because of the latest developments in the World War, with Allied Forces on the march on all fronts in Europe and gains reported in other sectors of the war-torn battle zones.

It was emphasized by the committee that it is not too late for organizations and other groups to be entered and given a place in the parade formation. This may be done by contacting the editorial department of the Times-Mirror or Ben Kinnear, in charge of the parade.

The parade will form in Fourth avenue facing west, between Market and Hazel streets. It will start promptly at seven o'clock and move south on Hazel to Pennsylvania avenue, east to Market, north to Fourth and back to the Elk club to disband. While the crowd is gathering preceding the formal opening of the program the high school band will play in Hickory street in front of the club.

Col. Lucius McK. Crumrine, commander of the Third Battalion, Pennsylvania Infantry, who will be the speaker, is expected to arrive in Warren from Pittsburgh about five o'clock and with the wounded World War veterans who are in town, will be entertained at dinner as guests of the Elks.

A regrettable omission in the parade orders printed Friday was brought to the attention of the committee in the fact that the name of the Civil Air Patrol, which will be one of the outstanding marching delegations, was not listed in the third division. This was not an oversight on the part of the committee, and satisfactory explanations have been made. The official parade orders will be printed tomorrow.

The firms visited today included the G. G. Green Manufacturing Co., G. G. Metal Stamping Co., Co., Cropp Engineering Co., three visits at the United Refining Co., and the men also made addresses at a public rally in the court house this morning and spoke to the borough employees this afternoon.

Tomorrow there are meetings at the Thomas Flexible Coupling Co., O'Connor Machine Co., of Sheffield, Times Publishing Co., Paramount Furniture Co., Lions Club, Penn Furnace and Iron, Walker Creamery Products, Warren Axe and Tool, Hammond Iron Works and DeLuxe Metal Furniture Co.

A change has been made in the Wednesday program. The veterans will speak at the Bradford Penn Refining Company at Clarendon at three o'clock in the afternoon, instead of in the morning, as ordinarily announced. All residents of Clarendon are invited to attend this rally and hear the address by the veterans.

IN LOVING MEMORY

of my wife, who passed away one year ago.

I will praise Him
I will praise Him while I've breath
I may soon be cold in death.
Then I'll wish I'd praised Him more
While upon this earthly shore.

I will praise Him for the life
He has freed from sin and strife.
Then I'll praise Him o'er and o'er
Oh! for breath to praise Him more.

Let me ne'er down hearted be
For I have salvation free.
He has done so much for me
That I'll praise eternally.

Praise Him for His love so sweet
Praise Him for the food we eat.
Praise Him for the grace and care
He has given us while here.

Praise Him while the devil tries
To draw us from this greatest prize.
For of all great things on earth
Jesus Christ, our Lord, is first.

I don't want the rocks and hills
Nor the gaily plumaged birds,
To cry out His praise for me
I want to praise eternally.

Then when on the other shore
I will praise for evermore.
Let me praise Him while I've breath
I may soon be cold in death.

Industrial Conference At Pittsburgh

Indications point to a large delegation from Warren for the 14th Annual Western Pennsylvania Industrial Conference, for industrial supervisors and executives, to be held Saturday of this week at Hotel Schenley in Pittsburgh. This conference is sponsored by the industrial department of the State YMCA, and the Foremen's Club of the Warren "Y" is promoting local attendance.

There will be three major addresses and three group conferences around specific problems. Registration opens at 9 a. m. and the closing event will be the dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. The first principal speaker will be The Hon. Everett M. Dirksen, congressman from Illinois, whose subject will be "Free Enterprise in the Future".

"The Place of the Supervisors in the Future" will be the topic of George T. Trundle, President of Trundle Engineering Company, of Cleveland, who will address the noon luncheon meeting. Featuring the evening dinner session will be the address of Dr. James Lee Ellenwood, State Executive of the YMCA of New York, whose subject will be "The Future". There is no more popular speaker for industrial affairs than Dr. Ellenwood, who addressed this conference two years ago and is returning because of the great demand for him.

Group of conference periods will discuss "Job Relations", "The Foreman and the Returning Service Man", and "The Foreman's Own Problems". For further information or registration cards, application should be made through the plant's Foreman's Club Governor, or to Ralph H. Wagner at the YMCA office.

MAKES A RECORD

Warren County has made a record for the week ending June 9. There were no checks sent into this county for that period in payment of unemployment compensation. In District No. 1 in which Warren is located Sharon and Oil City had the largest checks, Sharon receiving $260 and Oil City $240.

EPIDEMIC SPREADS

Warren during the past few days has been assailed by an epidemic of lost wallets containing goodly sums of money and in most instances the wallets have been returned. The latest to report the loss of a wallet is Arnold Maeder, 325 Park avenue. The wallet contained $23 or $24 in a draft and other valuable cards and papers.

LADY IN A WHIRL

By Esther Valck Georgins

Chapter 28

THE incessant ringing of her telephone awoke Zelda the next morning. It was Kennedy, the hotel manager.

"Miss Germaine," he said, "the place is full of reporters, waiting to see you."

"Well, I don't want to see them. What do they want to see me for?"

"Well, I suppose—have you seen the papers?"

"Of course not. I'm not even awake yet. Send them up. The papers, I mean. And keep those fellows away from my room."

"I'll do my best, Miss Germaine."

Zelda leaped out of bed and ran through the bathroom into Cora's room. She shook the older woman awake. Cora sat up, befuddled, and Zelda handed her her glasses.

"Isn't there any peace and quiet any place?" Cora demanded irritably, settling her spectacles on her nose deliberately.

"Cora, there must be something in the papers about the count. Kennedy just called me and said the place is full of reporters."

"Well, what of it?"

At that moment the papers arrived. Zelda grabbed them. There was no need to unfold them. There, splashed across the front page, sharing space with the war news, was the story. Under the headline, "Glamor Girl Shares Snuggler," was a detailed account of Nick Calenti and his many illegal activities. It went on to tell how he had been trapped and brought to justice by the young society girl, Zelda Germaine. Miss Germaine had obtained a cigarette case from the count and turned it over to the police. The case had been covered with incriminating finger prints and had led to the identification of the criminal. Miss Germaine had assisted in the actual capture and had been wounded in the shoulder.

There was a picture of Zelda and of the count handcuffed to a detective.

ZELDA put the paper down and regarded Cora severely.

"Cora, you know that cigaret case was your doing?"

"What difference does it make? I thought of it first, that's all. And anyway," she added righteously, "you were wounded."

"Yes, at least that much's true," Zelda said with relief. "But what am I going to do about those reporters downstairs?"

"Have them up, of course."

Zelda picked up the telephone and told the girl at the switchboard that she would see the newspaper men, if there were any still waiting, as soon as she had dressed.

After the interview she returned to Cora's room.

"There," she said, "that's over. Now I'm getting out of here."

"Me, too," said Cora. I can hardly wait to get back to the mountains."

"I'm not going back to the mountains. I'm going to do what I wanted to do in the first place. I'm going to Mexico."

"VOU'LL go alone because I'm not going with you," proclaimed Cora, and neither urging or coaxing could make her change her mind.

"I've been in a raid. I've been kidnapped. I've been pushed off a mountain, and that's enough for now," she said finally. "I'm going back and sit on that porch."

Zelda managed to secure pulling day. Then she got them and called Pete to tell him that she was leaving.

"What about, Cora?" he wanted to know.

"She says she isn't going. Pete," Zelda laughed, "but I'm not worrying. I've got a compartment and I'll bet you ten to one when the train leaves she'll be in it."

But Cora was adamant. She refused to go to Mexico City. When they were in the taxi on their way to the station she said: "Suppose you get sick down there all alone. Who'd look after you?"

"I'm sure I don't know, but there'd be somebody."

"Say, it's funny Pete didn't show up, isn't it?" said Cora suddenly.

"He called," Zelda told her. "Early this morning. He had to go see some music publisher. Something about his symphony. He said if he didn't get through there in time to come to the hotel he'd be at the station."

But he didn't show up and when the gates to Zelda's train were opened and he was still not there, she became a little concerned.

"Look," she told Cora. "I'll get on. You go call Donner and Smith—that's where he said he was going—and see if he's still there. Likely he was detained."

Cora trotted towards a telephone booth and Zelda found her compartment on the train. After awhile she looked at her watch and was startled to see that it lacked but one minute of leaving time.

Uncertain as to just what course to pursue, she stepped out into the passageway—and collided with Cora.

"Zelda, Cora puffed. "I told you something must have happened. Pete is in the hospital!"

LADY IN A WHIRL

By Esther Valck Georgins

Chapter 29

"HOSPITAL! Are you sure?" Zelda demanded.

"Yes," Cora replied breathlessly. "I talked to Mr. Donner. He said Pete was taken sick at their office. They've already operated for acute appendicitis—at St. Stephens."

"Well, don't stand there like a post," Zelda told her. "Come on. I'll bet you'll get off this train."

"But Zelda—"

"Don't stand there like that!" Zelda yanked her towards the door. "Wait. My dressing case." She flew back and got it.

They hurried up the platform. Suddenly Zelda realized that her purse was still in the compartment.

"I'll get it," Cora purred. "You go on."

"Hurry," Zelda told her. "I'll go on to the hospital."

Cora ran back. There was no time to lose. She scrambled onto the train and through the corridor to Zelda's compartment. Seizing the purse, which she found on the seat, she turned to leave.

But suddenly a colored porter barred her path.

"What are you doin' here?" he wanted to know. "This's Miss Germaine's compartment."

"I know whose compartment it is," Cora snapped. "Get out of my way. I've got to get off this train."

The porter spotted the two handbags—her own and Zelda's—both dangling from her arm. His eyes bulged and he stood firm.

Cora said: "Will you let me by? I've got to get off this train!"

"On, no," came the reply.

"Sorry ma'm, I'm goin' to get the conductor."

IN the meantime Zelda had made her way to the street and hailed a taxi.

"St. Stephens," she told the driver. "And hurry."

Traffic was heavy and the driver did the best he could, but it seemed as though he crawled. Added to that, every light was red. Zelda sat tensely on the edge of the seat.

Oh, Pete, she thought, please don't die! Even if you do love some other girl.

Zelda's mind hesitated over that. What girl? She went over her female friends and acquaintances one by one and dismissed them all. If it had been any of them she would have known it.

Whoever she is, Zelda thought, she's a fool not to grab him. There aren't many like Pete. And now—he was going to die, maybe. The thought left her weak. But Pete mustn't die. Life without Pete was unthinkable. He and Cora were all she had. And suddenly Zelda knew that they were the only ones she wanted. Life without either of them would be a lonely affair. Life without Pete would be unthinkable. Because she had been so used to him, she had never realized how dearly she loved him.

The blocks crawled past slowly.

"I could walk faster," Zelda said aloud. "We'll never get there."

But they did, finally, and she hurried up the steps.

"I'm Miss Zelda Germaine," she told the girl at the desk. "I've come to see Mr. Nickols. How is he?"

"Just a minute, please."

The girl talked to someone on the telephone, and then, "He's still unconscious, Miss Germaine," she told Zelda. "But you may go up, Room 607."

"Thank you. My friend, Miss Pettit, may arrive at any moment. Will you please send her up when she comes?"

"THE door of 607 was closed. I Zelda tapped gently, and a nurse let her in. Pete lay silently, looking ghastly white, but his eyes were open.

"He's just coming to," the nurse said.

Zelda knelt beside the bed, taking one of Pete's cold hands in both her warm ones.

"Pete," she said softly. "Nobody else," he murmured between breaths, "so you've come."

Zelda thought: He's delirious. His hand clung tightly to Zelda's. "Don't go," he said faintly.

"I won't," Zelda assured him. "I shan't leave you, dear. Just be quiet."

The nurse brought a chair and motioned Zelda to sit down. "I'm certainly glad you came. He's been calling for you ever since he got off the table," she whispered.

"For me?"

"Nobody else," the nurse assured her.

It was nearly an hour later when Pete opened his eyes again. "Hello, angel face," he said, his voice scarcely audible. "Where's Cora?"

"I don't know!" She realized Cora should have appeared long ago, but her mind was all on Pete. "This girl," Zelda said. "You know, the girl you love. Wouldn't you like to see her? Shall I call her for you?"

BACK THE ATTACK!

Today, June 12, 1944, our government—which means you and every other citizen—begins its Fifth War Loan drive. Warren county's quota in this 16-billion-dollar drive is $3,690,000.

From the patriotic response of citizens of this country in the previous four drives, it is to be expected that the quota will be met. To maintain Warren county's high standing for achievement, we must raise our sights and go over the top in the same splendid manner that we have in the First, Second, Third and Fourth Loans.

In the Fifth War Loan, the slogan is "Back the Attack—Buy More Than Before." This is no idle catchphrase—with our forces on European soil, locked with the enemy in what doubtless is the climax of this struggle—we must keep a ceaseless stream of supplies of every sort flowing to that battlefield as well as the many other fronts where our men are engaged.

Insofar as the invasion is concerned, not a person on the home front has the least doubt but that every man taking part is meeting the assignment with courage and determination. We are confident in that assurance. To fortify those men with an equal assurance that we at home are backing their attack to the utmost, we MUST meet this war loan. That is our assignment for the invasion period.

When we evaluate dollars with what we expect our soldiers, sailors and marines to GIVE us, we should feel a sense of shame that it is necessary that our government must emphasize to some persons that they are loaning, not giving, their money—that such loans are really investments on which we will receive good returns. The marines at Tarawa and the men on the French coast received no promises of returns when they launched their attacks.

We could not, we cannot assure them that they will return home but, by meeting our quota in this Fifth War Loan—to keep the sinews of war in their hands—we do assure them that the folks at home are backing them with every dollar they can muster.

WE MUST BACK THEIR ATTACK WITH OUR DOLLARS.

FARM LABOR SURVEY BEING MADE

The Farm Labor Office at 220 Liberty street, has sent out over 1,000 letters to Warren county farmers in order that they may register their needs for help. These letters were mailed last week and so far from the cards that have been returned about 50% of the farmers need help.

If this situation continues it would mean that there are about 600 farmers in the county that need help, and some of these farmers in seasonable harvest, such as potato harvest, need from six to twenty-five workers a day.

How we are going to provide this help for 600 farmers is a real problem, but there is one thing certain, and that is we must have the cooperation of everyone in the county.

As far as we can see there are only about three sources from which this help can be provided:

1. People that are already working and will be willing to give up days off or vacation time in order that all the crops may be harvested.
2. It is up to a good many women that are already working to volunteer, particularly when it comes to fruit harvest and potato picking.
3. High School students including Boy Scouts who may be willing to spend their summer vacation on farms, particularly those 15 years of age or older.

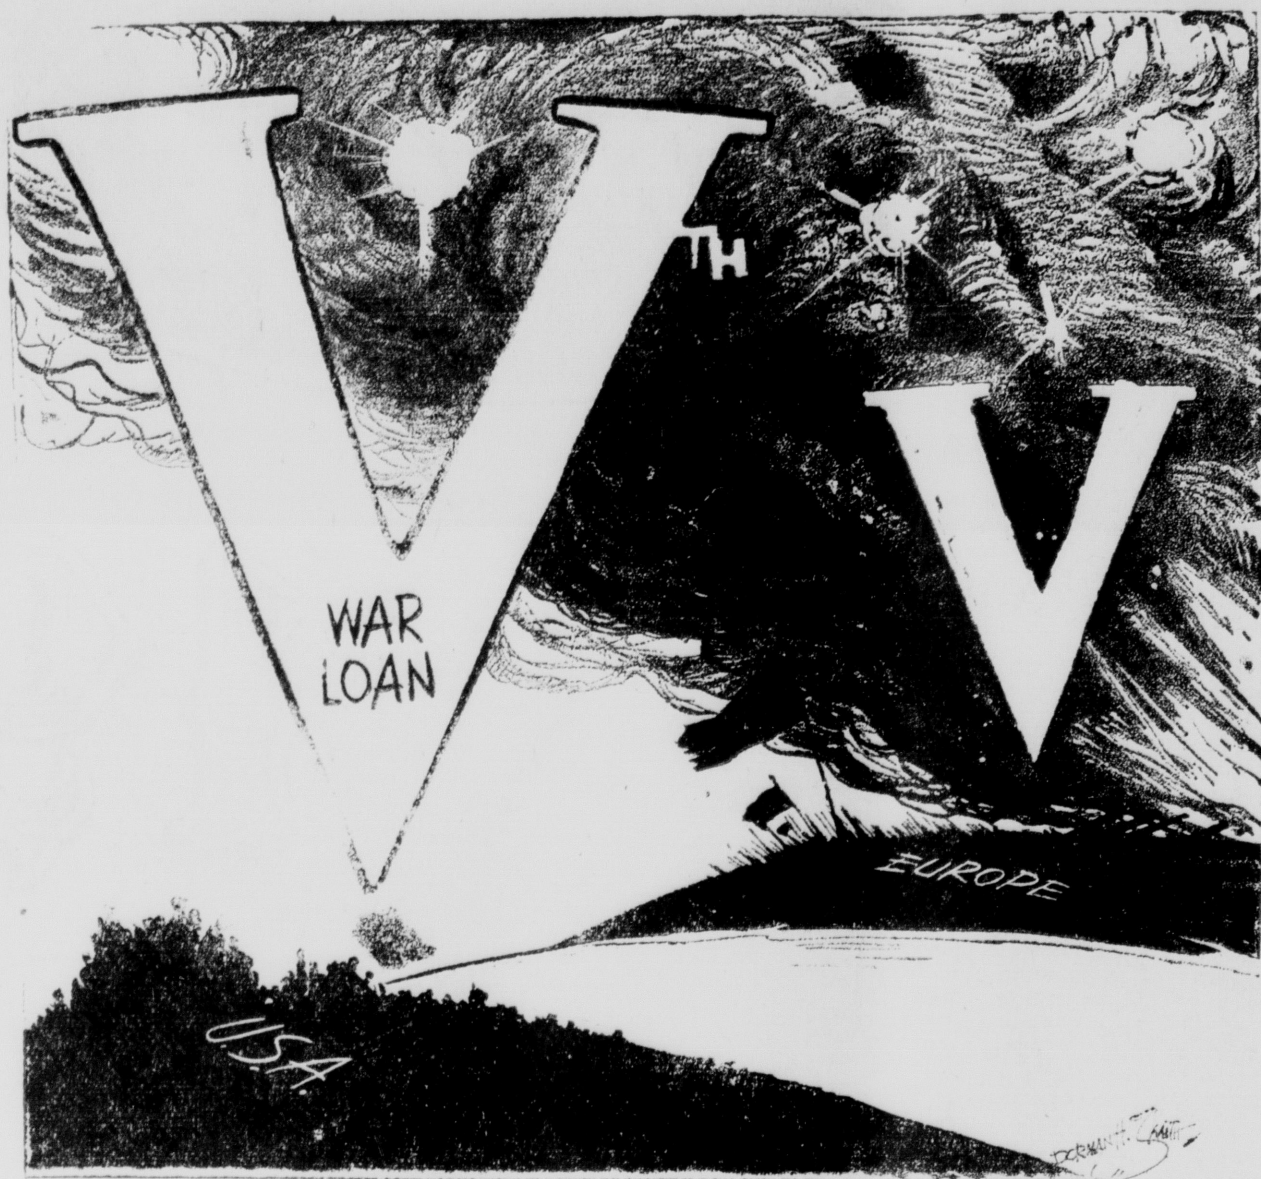

Anyone wishing to contribute to this vital war effort should register with C. C. Winants, at the Farm Labor Office 220 Liberty street.

The battle of Cherbourg peninsula continues to mount in fury as reinforcements grow on both sides, but there is the gratifying assurance from none other than General Sir Bernard Montgomery that "The Allied armies have secured a firm and good lodgement on the mainland of France."

The Flag Day parade scheduled for Warren Wednesday evening may be the last before an Allied victory over Hitler's Europe. It is not too late for every society, lodge, patriotic organization, defense group and others to enter. Better reserve a place in the formation!

Now that the parched Victory Gardens have been drenched with much-needed rains, watch the weeds grow!

What It Means

By JAMES D. WHITE

WASHINGTON — There's talk in Congress about reducing income taxes after the war—but don't bank on that until you see it happen.

We spend about 90 billion dollars a year on the war, and our present national income of 143 billion dollars (for 1943) yields taxes amounting to about 45 billion.

Post-war government cost is estimated at 20 to 25 billion a year, so some think taxes can be cut in half once that war cost stops.

But many factors will decide whether you will pay higher, lower or about the same tax rate, all of them difficult to foresee. Here are a few of the things which may make all the difference.

First, how much will the government need in taxes?

That 20 to 25 billion-dollar cost estimate includes such expected items as five billion interest on the public debt, three to five billion for veterans, five billion for the armed forces and another five billion for federal expenses—commitments to state aid programs, farmers, public works, etc.

The public debt is approaching 190 billion, and an effort to retire it all or in part would eat farther into government tax income. Experts disagree, but fundamental questions are: Is the debt to be paid off, kept around its present large figure, or allowed to get even larger?

Where will the government get the taxes? Ask instead: To what class of taxpayer will the government go for the bulk of its income? This is the real rub.

Middle Class Incomes
A serious consideration here—and one with a background of long economic experience—is the any couple married 60 years or more. This morning bright and early Mr. and Mrs. Christian Grosch, of Dutch Hill qualified having been wedded 62 years.

desire among some tax experts to go after middle-class income brackets. These brackets do not invest heavily as a rule in economic ventures but in the mass represent large accumulations of savings (capital). In the view of some experts, this money ought to be working instead of lying relatively idle in low-interest accounts or other forms of savings.

Business interests plead that corporation income and especially excess profits taxes must be lowered after the war. Otherwise, they say, capital just will not bother to invest in business or industrial enterprise.

Whether or not this is true, if corporations are taxed less, some source may have to be taxed more to make up the difference.

Balancing The Budget

Officials estimate that the tax rate stays at its present level, the revenue from the $115,000,000,000 anticipated post-war national income would average about $25,000,000,000—or just about enough to balance the expected budget.

But should war-time excise taxes on certain goods—cosmetics, tobacco, liquor and patent medicines—be removed or cut, revenue thus lost also would have to be made up somewhere, if the budget is to be balanced.

A mere shift in the method of taxing corporations, as has been suggested, like taxing the income of individual stockholders in a corporation instead of taxing the income of the corporation itself, would keep other John Does from being affected greatly.

Remember, the rate of taxation is what counts—not the amount—especially in relation to price levels.

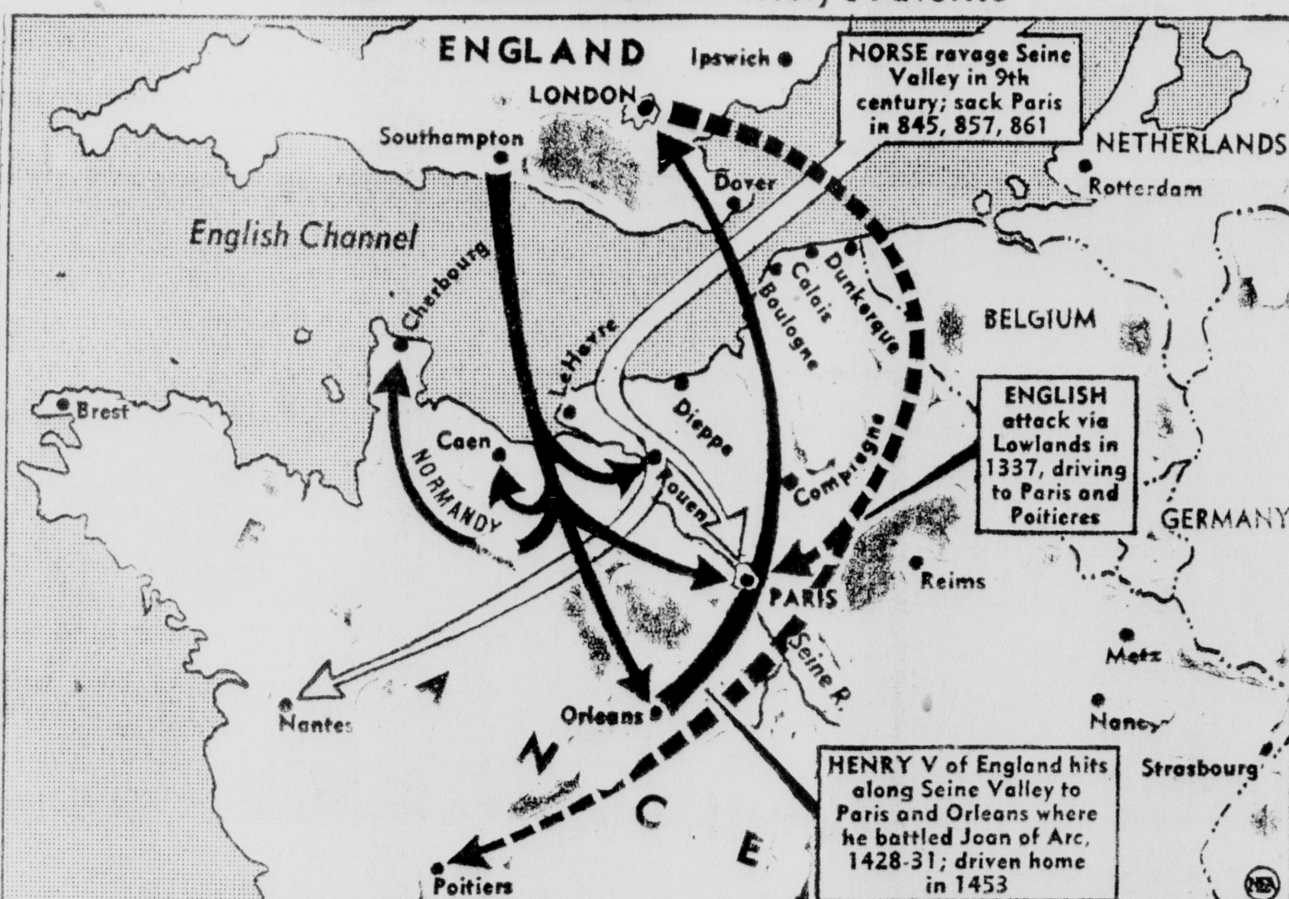

Even if a man made a generous pile of money, if he had to pay extra high prices for consumer goods and services, even a small tax would hurt. That's another argument for keeping inflation under control.

Red Cross Work Notes

Women of the First Methodist church and their friends are asked to report at Red Cross headquarters from one until five on Tuesday to make surgical dressings.

At 20 miles per hour there are 12 fatalities in each 100 automobile accidents but at 51 miles per hour and over there are 92—more than a seven-fold increase.

Allies' 'Invasion Area' Is History's Favorite

Normandy and the general English Channel area of France now invaded, or threatened with invasion by the Allies, has a long history of similar incursions by foreign armies, as the map above portrays. Strangely, only the Norsemen, back in the 9th century, chose to descend on Paris along the Seine River valley, a route now apparently prominent in Allied plans.

Soldier Vote Canvass Opens Over State Next Wednesday

The canvass for names and addresses of Pennsylvania's men, women serving in the Armed Forces and War Services throughout the world so they may be sent ballots for the November election, will begin on Flag Day, Wednesday, June 14.

"This canvass is expected to contact a million homes. It is probably the greatest endeavor undertaken in the history of the Commonwealth in behalf of its sons and daughters in National Service," said Doctor Ralph Cooper Hutchison, Executive Director of the State Council of Defense, which by act of the recent Special Session of the Legislature, has been charged with the duty and responsibility for the canvass. "It has been most heartening to learn of the generous offers of not only people enrolled in the War Services and Protective Branches of our more than 1200 Councils of Defense in Pennsylvania, but from individual members of Veterans' posts, of Women's Clubs, Service Clubs, Service Clubs and numerous other organizations. No one need lack for Canvass cards. They have been sent by the tens of thousands and in some instances by the hundreds of thousands to Chairmen of County Councils of Defense who will handle the distribution of the necessary supplies.

"There are two matters warranting particular attention to the canvass. One is, that canvassers will have credentials showing authority to ask the few simple questions on the canvass cards. The other is, that people interrogated for names and addresses of their folks in the National service should give just the information asked and nothing else, we don't want any information beyond what the law expects us to obtain, but we do hope what we need will be immediately available when the canvassers call.

"Governor Martin has worked out the most liberal plan carrying through Pennsylvania's traditional policy of opportunity to vote and we will get the names of those eligible in time for them to be sent the ballots."

Sunday Was Busy Day At Sylvania Plant

Employees of the Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., were busy Sunday moving and setting new machinery in the new addition to the plant which has been practically completed. There is a large amount of machinery to move and set and the men engaged in this task performed a most Herculean job in getting most of it in shape for operations this morning.

When the day shift reported this morning many of them were placed at work on the machines. The opening of the new addition will allow many additional girls and women to be engaged and all applications must be made through the Manpower Commission, 225 Pennsylvania avenue, west.

Landscape plantings are now being made about the new plant and when all of the lawns are levelled and seeded and the shrubbery in place the appearance of the big branch of the Sylvania will be highly attractive.

Boys Return Money Taken From Stores

The five boys who were implicated in the robberies of the Julius Johnson store on Jefferson street and the confectionary store of Mrs. Anna Larason, Pennsylvania avenue, east have made full restitution of the sums taken. The boys when in court last week agreed to return all the money taken and returned to Mrs. Larason $150 and to Mr. Johnson $12.50 which he thought was the value of the cigarettes, etc., taken from his store. The return of the money was made through the police department.

Two fellows who had a truck on Conewango avenue were seized up by the police and found to be in no condition to drive the vehicle. So the boys were brought to police headquarters to cool off.

Sunday several small boys got into a house on Fifth avenue, west and what a mess they made. They got hold of eggs, flour, beans, etc., and succeeded in getting the food stuffs all over the place out on the porch and on the sidewalk. They were all little fellows but they wasted about $4 worth of stuff. The lads were rounded up and their parents will pay for the stuff destroyed. Maybe the lads were looking for Wheaties, eh?

Why a Farmer Should Buy and Keep War Bonds

by O. G. Lloyd Head, Dept. of Agricultural Economics Purdue University

FOR more than 16 months farmers have enjoyed the most favorable exchange of farm dollars for Bond dollars in more than a quarter of a century. Based upon 1935-39 as 100, farmers have sold farm products at the average ratio of $140 for every $100 paid, including interest and taxes. This ratio compares most favorably with the decade 1929-39 with a ratio of 105 and especially with the decade 1930-39 when the ratio fell to 89 or an 11 loss compared to the base period of 100 in 1935-39. Granting that the post war period price level will not fall lower than the level of 1935-39 for a long period of time, the advantage of exchanging war inflated farm dollars for War Bond dollars is obvious. Ordinary business transactions are made on a margin of less than 10 percent compared to this extraordinary exchange of 40 percent. To obtain the 40 percent advantage of inflationary farm dollars, it is necessary to keep the War Bonds until war ends. Based on the 1935-39 level, in the meantime the interest paid on the investment will increase the value of the bond 33 1/3 percent or a War Bond costing $75 will be redeemed by the Government at $100. During periods of stationary and of falling prices of farm products, which are probable during the next decade, farmers will have urgent demands for liquid capital which can be readily turned into cash for equipment and improvements. Such expenditures wisely made pay big dividends through more economical production which meets current demand. At such periods the wise farmer is not handicapped for operating capital if he owns War Bonds. Backed by the credit of the Government, War Bonds are so secure and so readily convertible into purchasing power that they excel the land itself as a means of providing ready cash. The discipline of following a budget which requires saving for investment promotes prudent spending of time and money. When the amount for spending is reduced in order to invest for private and public benefit, an increased satisfaction is gained by a new evaluation of current needs in terms of making the investment goals possible. It is little wonder then that such War Bond purchasers marvel that current needs are met about as fully as before and the Bond seems to be more of a gift than of a sacrifice of present wants. Savings for buying War Bonds are obtained, therefore, with the least friction of daily living when accompanied by judicious spending. Farming is an occupation which offers an excellent example of the American principle of free enterprise. Farmers should buy War Bonds and keep them because their industry and efficiency have given them the highest production per man of farmers in any country. Without high production per man there cannot be much to spend on current needs, much to save for purchase of War Bonds and much to give to any worthy cause. Now that high purchasing power of farm products is accompanied by high physical production of farm products per man, the income of farmers has been increased correspondingly and farmers are able and willing to buy War Bonds. Such purchases are not only a smart investment for high economic and patriotic returns, but farmers can avail themselves of the opportunity to get money to make the purchase of the War Bonds and should keep them in order to obtain the highest returns on the investment.

Lutheran Class Honors Teachers On Anniversary

A celebration held Friday evening in the parlors of First Lutheran church by the Women's Bible Class was of two-fold significance, marking not only the 40th anniversary of the class but honoring its teacher, Mrs. B. G. Gregory, for the same period of service in that capacity. In observance of this milestone, the class presented a set of books in her name to the Warren Public Library. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. William Graham, who wore aqua with white accessories and carried a similar bouquet. Mrs. Ebel wore blue with white accessories and Mrs. Cruickshank, a flowered print and matching accessories, each with a gardenia corsage. James Cruickshank was his brother's best man.

A reception followed at the Ebel Home for 25 guests, including Mr. and Mrs. Wallace F. Jewell and Wallace Jewell, Jr., of Bradford; Mrs. G. A. Jewell, Buffalo, N. Y. 5TH WAR LOAN

STARTS TODAY!

*IT'S FOR INVASION!
FOR VICTORY!
FOR YOUR BOY!*

WHY YOU ARE ASKED TO
INVEST MORE
During the "ZERO HOUR" Drive

NOW, AS America goes all out for invasion—your dollars must join the fight, too! No matter how much you have done—you must do more! It is a solemn duty for every American to buy MORE

War Bonds during the 5th WAR LOAN DRIVE—to keep the attack going—to help safeguard your country and your own boys in the fight. The job is big—you've got to dig!

It's a question of simple arithmetic: War costs more today than ever—and during invasion, the demands for supplies reach their peak. A heavy bomber costs about $250,000. A 155 mm. howitzer costs $23,000. Fighter planes cost $50,000.

Invasion barges, tanks, field guns cost thousands upon thousands of dollars. Invasion demands more and ever more fighting equipment to insure Victory. The money must come from every patriotic American at home.

BOOST YOUR PLEDGE

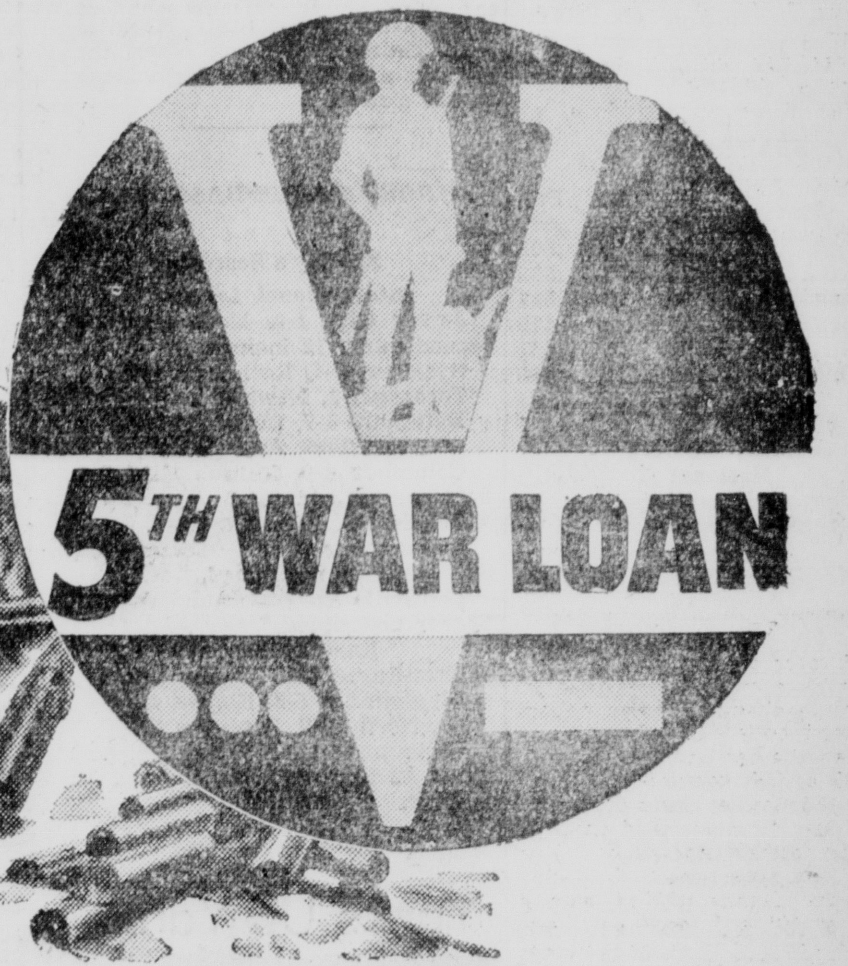

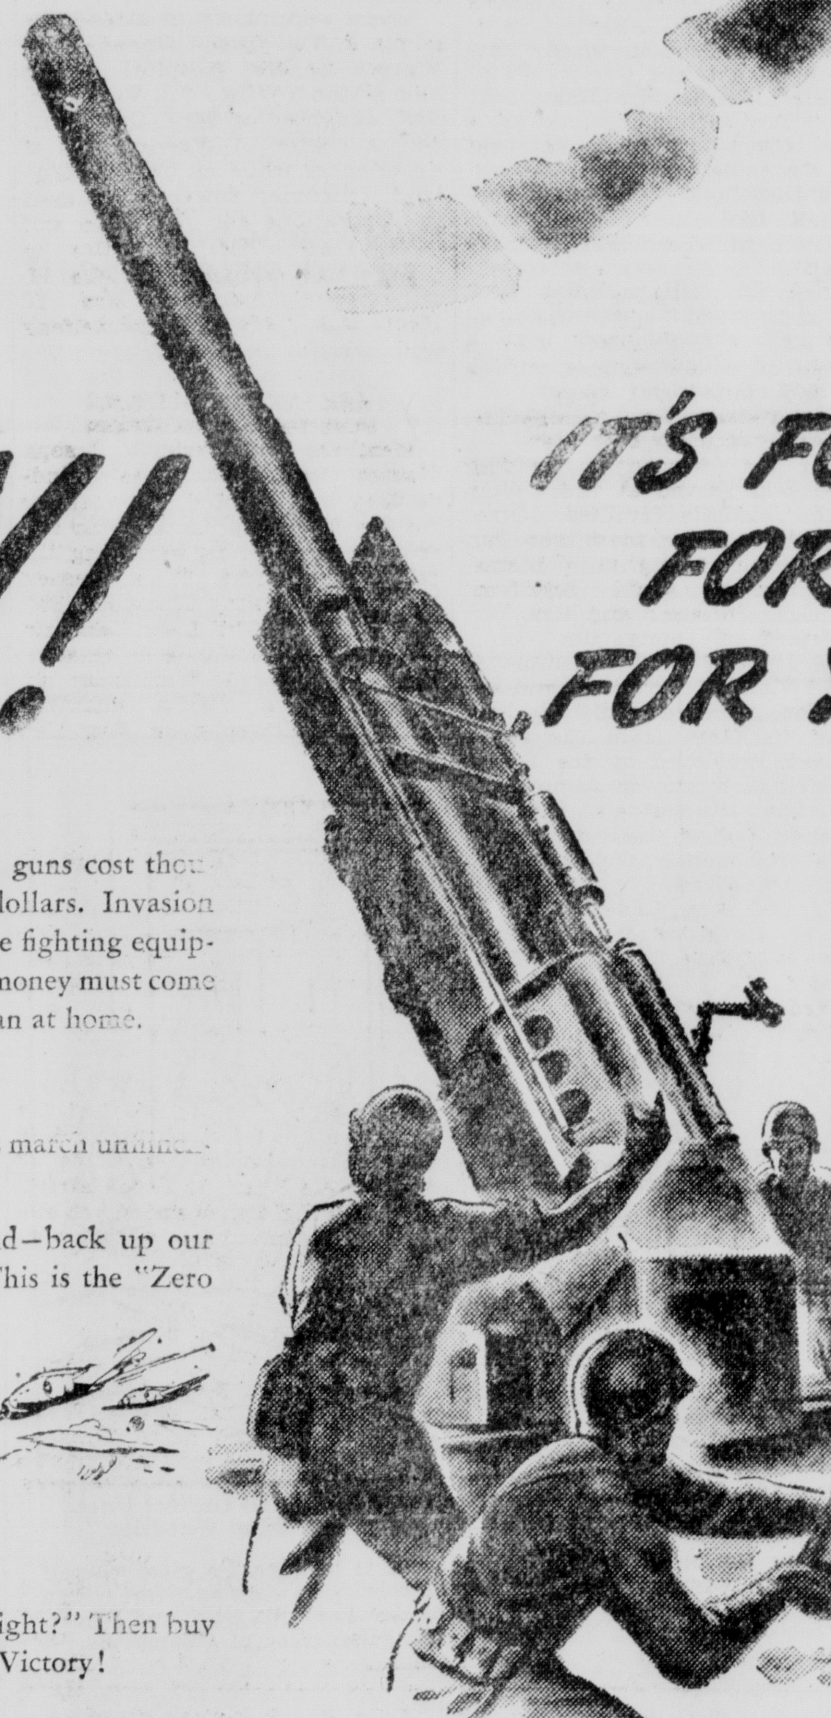

As America faces its "Zero Hour", our armed forces march unflinchingly forward. They are ready to die if need be.

And now, on the home front comes the command—back up our fighting men with the biggest War Loan of all. This is the "Zero Hour" Drive. Our duty is clear...

If you are on the payroll savings plan, buy extra bonds in this drive.

If you buy War Bonds regularly at your bank or Post Office, double your War Bond investment. But, whatever you do, whoever you are, ask yourself this question: "What have I done today that some mother's son should die for me tonight?" Then buy your extra $100—or $200—or $300 Bond. It's for Victory!

WELCOME THE VICTORY VOLUNTEERS
when they come to tell you about War Bonds

Back the Attack!—BUY MORE THAN BEFORE!

Yanks Lose 11 of Last 13 Starts But Are Still Very Much in the League Running

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

They may be slipping, but don't count the world champion New York Yankees out of the running in the American League baseball race—not yet, anyway.

The Yanks lost a doubleheader to the Boston Red Sox yesterday, 2 to 1 and 4 to 1, extending their string of defeats to 11 of their last 13 starts.

But last year the Yanks were barely hanging onto first place by a few percentage points, and just when things looked blackest they won eight in a row and followed through by winning the flag and the World Series.

Tex Hudson and Clem Housman pitched the Red Sox to their double triumph. Hudson's effort was a three-hit masterpiece. In addition, he was in the winning run in the opener by getting an infield hit with the bases loaded.

Meantime the St. Louis Cardinals, National League champs, gained two games over their nearest competitors by whipping Cincinnati twice, 3 to 1 and 4 to 1, while the Chicago Cubs shut out Pittsburgh twice, 5 to 0 and 1 to 0.

The Cards set a league record for doubleheaders in the opener and five in the nightcap, in backing up six-hit twirling by both George Munger and Harry Gumbert. Walker Cooper, Whitey Kurowski and Danny Litwiler hit consecutive homers for the Cards in the nightcap.

Paul Erickson turned in a two-hitter and Bob Chipman a five-hitter for the Cubs as they blanked the Pirates. Umpire George Magerkurth banished both Manager Frankie Frisch and Outfielder Johnny Barrett of the Pirates, after an argument in the opener.

The Chicago White Sox beat Dizzy Trout, 4 to 2, for their eighth straight triumph in the first game of a twin bill with Detroit, but had their streak snapped in the afternoon when Stubby Overmire won, 1 to 0 on Roy York's ninth inning single. Detroit thus climbed into third place as the Sox went into a fourth place tie with the Yanks.

A grand slam seventh inning home run by Pinch Hitter Gene Moore gave the first place St. Louis Browns a split with Cleveland. The Indians easily took the opener, 13 to 1 behind Mel Harder. Moore's round-tripper in the nightcap gave Bob Muncie and the Browns a 4 to 2 triumph. Umpire Charley Berry banished Manager Luke Sewell of the Browns, in the second game.

The New York Giants swept a doubleheader from the Phillies, both by scores of 6 to 5 with the second game going 12 innings, before Phil Weintraub singled Mel Ott home with the winning tally. Nap Reyes' ninth inning single won the opener.

Bobo Newsom and Luman Harris, aided by Joe Berry's relief pitching, twirled the Philadelphia Athletics to a double win over Washington, 6 to 1 and 6 to 5, pushing the Senators back into the cellar.

Brooklyn and the Boston Braves divided their twin bill.

Forgers Defeat Fast North East Team by Scores of 1-0

National Forge made it six straight Sunday when they defeated North East A. C. 1 to 0. Hines was again in form allowing four hits and kept the well scattered.

Neither team was able to score throughout the game until Forge pushed their lone tally across in the last half of the ninth inning. Geigerich flied out, Natale singled. Hines grounded to the pitcher who threw to second but the basemen failed to touch either bag or runner and everybody was safe.

Creola was given a base on balls J. Massa, with the count two balls and one strike, watched a wild pitch sail by the catcher and Natale came over with the winning run.

A fair sized crowd was on hand to watch the third consecutive 1-0 game and although satisfied, were a little disappointed in the dead ball that is being used at these games. The management states that it is impossible to obtain any Spaulding, Reach or Wilson balls in Warren and the team has only access to the cheaper brand. A dozen Spaulding balls were obtained from the North East club and will be used Sunday, June 18th, and if the game again ends 1 to 0 a free contest will be put on at Wilder field some evening, with no charge whatever.

Geigerich and Rosequist, with two hits each were leading hitters for Forge, Natale and Morrison getting the others. No box score was available for this game. Incidentally an exciting game is anticipated at the State Hospital field Thursday evening when the Forgers and Struthers Wells clash at six o'clock.

The first-place Lockport Cubs split a double-header with Hornell. Bob Liko won the first half for the Pirates, 2-1, when he drove out a home run with one on in the ninth inning. Iron Workers Top Vikings At Titusville

Titusville Herald: A fair crowd, considering that two strange teams were operating, turned out at Carter Field yesterday to watch the Warren Struthers-Wells club open its campaign in Titusville by defeating the Vikings of Jamestown, N. Y., 8 to 7.

A four run blast in the ninth inning brought victory to Warren after Jamestown went ahead with four runs in the sixth.

Although touched for 11 hits, R. Mee went the route for Jamestown and struck out ten of the Struthers-Wells sluggers. His battery mate, Rosean, poled out the longest blow, a home run, while Shortstop Yanni collected two doubles.

Pitcher Schussler, of Warren, crashed out a triple.

There are other ways to work off extra energy. Cleaning out a paper and scrap, or working a garden—for example. Yes, there's work to be done. So give yourself something to work on. Start with a big bowl of milk, fruit, and Wheaties. "Breakfast of Champions."

Small Arms Firing School Continues Training Riflemen

It was announced today that any person anticipating military service will be given an opportunity to receive rifle marksmanship training under the nation-wide program sponsored by the National Rifle Association with the cooperation of the War Department and which school is conducted locally at the Warren State Armory, by the instructors of the Warren Rifle Club and the Complanter Gun Club. The 27th class will begin on Thursday night, beginning at 7:30 p. m. and persons may still enroll for this course. This instruction course will cover the following basic subjects: Nomenclature of rifle and cartridge, to give the students a general knowledge of the important working parts of any military rifle they might use. Safety, to show how guns can be handled with no chance of an accident. Shooting positions and the use of the rifle sling, teaching approved military positions: Sighting and aiming: Trigger release and sight adjustment. Concluding the school an opportunity will be given the students to fire for the nationally recognized N.R.A. qualification insignia, all successful graduates will be awarded certificates from the Association. Classes will be held only on Thursday nights, for a six-weeks period. The school will be conducted with military type, 22 caliber rifles. Local club officials disclosed that their course also coincides with that of the NRA to the extent that it will train its men to be instructors in addition to giving them fundamental marksmanship training for themselves. Recruits already trained in marksmanship lighten considerably the burden on military instructors and may be called upon to assist in instruction of other recruits. Enroll now for the next class, over 400 men have already received this training and those who are in the service recommend this training course. You may contact the following instructors: Roger Mahaffy, Pat Dorrance, Perry Sweet, John H. Schuler, Norman Kuhre, or Paul W. Yagge.

MEN AND WOMEN IN THE SERVICE

Mrs. Clair Newhall has received word from her husband in England that he is now a first lieutenant.

A significant new point in the support campaign became apparent. Squadrons of RAF fighters were attacking specific targets in rapid-fire order on calls from ground units—which meant that newly established air bases on French soil were clicking.

The German air force was responding with heightening strength. About 100 enemy planes were over the battle area last night and American Thunderbolt fighter-bombers returning from an early morning foray reported opposition "the roughest yet."

American Marauders and Havocs bombed railroad and highway bridge targets at Aunay Sur Odon, southwest of Caen, La Haye, Du Puits, west of Carentan, and Conde Sur Noireau, south of Caen, without loss, and panicked concentration of troops at Laizelle, southeast of Caen, flying so low that a sergeant gunner reported, "You could pick out German lieutenants from sergeants and shoot the lieutenants."

Before breakfast time railroad yards, German road convoys and a seaplane base near Caudebec had been attacked by RAF Mediums.

Then a force of around 1,000 Fortresses and Liberators with swarming hundreds of escorting fighters swept in upon some of the airbases into which the Germans belatedly were shutting part of their lean air force.

The American heavies bombed the fields at Lille-Nord, Montdidier, Evreux-Fauville, Dreux, Vitry-en-Artois and Beauvais-Tille, while part of the armada concentrated on bridges and the escorting fighters strafed small targets.

Your opportunity to lend a hand for victory is here right now. Help put the 5th War Loan over the top. Every dollar you can spare is urgently needed. Buy all the Bonds you can — at this Bank.

Want to Autograph a Bomb For Hitler or Tojo?

"How would you like to autograph a Bomb which will be sent either to Tojo or Hitler?"

When we were asked this question this morning by a coworker of Metzger-Wright's, we said that we would like nothing better. "Then," she said, "Buy a Series 'E' Bond of any denomination and you can do just that."

Inquiring into the matter further, we found that the Metzger-Wright Company has secured the motion for its store. This is sponsored by the U. S. Treasury in cooperation with TEXTRON, one of the nation's largest manufacturers of wartime parachutes, tents, and hammocks to promote the sale of the Fifth War Loan Bonds.

Each person making a purchase of a Series 'E' Bond from any member of the Metzger-Wright organization will have the privilege of personally autographing a Textron Bomb-Bond label which will be pasted on a bomb at Army Ordnance Depots, and sent directly to Europe or the Pacific area—whichever ever he may choose. The price of the Bond determines the kind of bomb to be sent: A $25 Bond will buy a Fragmentation Bomb; $50 Bond a 100-pound All-Purpose Bomb; $100 Bond a 500-pound All-Purpose Bomb; $500 Bond buys a 2000-pound All-Purpose Bomb; and a $10,000 Bond buys a 4000-pound Block-Buster. One may autograph as many as one buys Bonds.

Every coworker of the Metzger-Wright Company is back of the Fifth War Loan Drive. The goal set for the store is $50,000 which is far in excess of the $300 per employee which the Treasury Department has asked all retail employers to set for their employees. During the Fourth War Bond Drive the Employees sold $60,000 worth of Bonds and it is secretly hoped by each coworker that this figure will be topped during this drive.

Furthermore, there will be on display in one of the Liberty street windows, a Textron Fragmentation Bomb Chute—these bombs are showered by the thousands on German and Japanese air-ports, supply lines, and troop concentrations. They burst on contact with the ground, spraying metal fragments in all directions with deadly effect, a Nylon Two-Man Mountain Tent, used by the Army's Mountain Infantry and Ski Troops; and a Jungle Hammock, which is used by the Jungle Troops. All this window material was sent direct from the Treasury Department to Metzger-Wright's. Full details are presented on the back page of this issue.

IT'S WAR SHORTAGE NO. 1

Warren County Fliers Aiding Allies to Victory in Europe

A Ninth Air Force Service Command unit somewhere in England, reports that two Pennsylvanians, 1st Sgt. Clarence L. Gould, Clarendon, and T/Sgt. Harry J. Punskey, of Warren, entered the army together in April, 1942, and are still together in England today, having gone through basic and advanced training in the States without separation.

Both are assigned to a depot supply company operating with the Ninth Air Force Service Command. Before entering service, Sgt. Gould, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gould, of Tylersburg, was employed by the William Crossett Company, Clarendon. Sgt. Punskey's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Punskey, 12 Linwood street, this city.

Also of much interest are two special reports from another unit of the Air Service Command concerning commendations for Sgt. Kenneth C. Anderson, Warren RD 2, and Cpl. Melvin F. Moylan, of Kinzua.

Sgt. Anderson and the men of his division help to keep our combat planes the best in the aerial title being fought over Germany, adding the most up to date improvements to ships after the new inventions have been perfected. Before entering the army, he was employed as inspector for the Aero Supply at Corry.

Cpl. Moylan, son of Mrs. Lena Moylan, is one of the Air Force soldiers whose job it is to see that some of the world's most intricate instruments will do their job during those crucial "thirty seconds over the target".

Both men were among those recently commended by Lt. General Carl A. Spaatz, commanding general of the United States Strategic Air Forces in Europe, when production at the depot was increased by more than 100 per cent.

From a similar news source comes word that Pvt. Bob R. Dixon, whose wife resides at 18 Myrtle street, is now serving as a sheet-metal man in a busy Air Service Command aircraft repair depot. He has been overseas since last October and before going into the army on July 28, 1943, was employed as a sheet metal aircraft worker at the army air base at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Kane Man Known Here Wins Fine Promotion

Relatives and friends in this section will be interested in an announcement through a special dispatch from an Eighth AAF bombardment division headquarters in England that Carl G. Nelson, of Kane, son of Andrew A. Anderson, of Sheffield, has been promoted from technician fourth grade to sergeant.

Sgt. Nelson is a teletype maintenance man, responsible for keeping in perfect working order this 24-hour a day equipment. A breakdown in the machine would tie up the remaining circuits and delay important messages which are essential for the successful operation of the division's Liberators and Fortresses.

Prior to his entry into the army in April, 1942, Sgt. Nelson was graduated in 1936 from Sheffield High School and worked for the Bell Telephone Company. His wife lives in Kane and he has a sister, Lt. Alice C. Nelson, who is an army nurse in North Ireland.

YANK FORCES CRACKING CHERBOURG LINE

AMERICANS POUND HALF WAY ACROSS CAPE AFTER CAPTURE OF VITAL TOWN OF CARENTAN

German High Command Concedes Evacuation of Important Peninsula Defense Center as British Batter Nine Miles East of Caen

GERMANS ARMORED COUNTER ATTACK BY ROMMEL

By JAMES M. LONG
Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, June 12—(AP)—American troops have driven 18 miles inland in the middle of the Normandy beachhead, capturing the whole forest of Cerisy, and the German high command said today the strategic stronghold of Carentan had fallen to U. S. forces. The smashing advance through the Cerisy forest punched the deepest dent yet in the Nazi line. Doughboys were converging on St. Lo, communications hub in center of Normandy, less than nine miles away, from the north and east. Headquarters did not confirm the fall of Carentan, guarding the narrowest neck of Cherbourg peninsula, but said Americans were within 14 miles of Cherbourg itself from the northeast, and had launched half-way across the cape, threatening to seal off the tip. German broadcasts said Caen, eastern bastion of the 60-mile long front, was menaced by encirclement—with British troops slashing nine miles east of the city. The Germans said Carentan, whose floodgates control the main peninsula water defense system, was evacuated in order to continue stand on ground less exposed to allied naval guns. As for Caen, German broadcasts said that a British drive had reached nearly to Troarn, nine miles due east of that bastion, and that Allied paratroopers had landed south of Caen. British troops were driving down west of Caen, threatening the other flank. Field Marshal Erwin Rommel has counted his fiercest armored counter-attacks in this Caen sector, and Berlin said major British forces were concentrating for a full-fledged assault on the town. In the center of the 50-mile-long front, American troops were advancing toward St. Lo, a prize communications hub 20 miles inland. As the American frontal attack across the Merderet river on Cherbourg peninsula reached within 12 miles of the west coast roads—those capture would seal off Cherbourg—Fitch radio said Doughboys had pushed into Quineville in the east coast. This would put Lt.-Gen. Omar (Turn to Page Nine)

Russians Drive 15 Miles In Offensive Against Finland

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, June 12—(AP)—Launching a major offensive designed to knock Finland out of the war and isolate approximately 100,000 Nazi troops in the northern part of that country, the Red army rolled forward along the Karelian Isthmus, above Leningrad today after cracking Finnish defenses on a 25-mile front. A communiqué last night announcing the new drive said Soviet troops already had advanced 12 to 15 miles, and indicated they were moving forward fast everywhere. This offensive evidently was coordinated closely with Allied operations in France, and represented a step in the grand Allied strategy worked out at the Tehran conference. Troops under Col. Gen. Leonid Brezhnev, who lifted the siege of Leningrad, launched the push Friday, just one month after the fall of Sevastopol. The Soviet communiqué declared Russian forces had captured 82 towns and villages, including the rail junction of Terijoki, 27 miles airline northwest of Leningrad and 160 miles east of the Finnish capital of Helsinki. day, just one month after the fall of Sevastopol. Driving Nearer To Philippines

By ROBERT EUNSON
Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, June 12—(AP)—Opening the aerial prelude to the battle for the Philippines, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's land-based bombers destroyed 22 grounded Japanese planes in their first daylight raid on Palau, south eastern guardian of the former American archipelago. Driving from newly-acquired bases in the Dutch New Guinea area, headquarters announced today the Fifth Army air force bombers also blew up many buildings near the Palau airdrome Friday. Palau, at the western end of the Caroline islands, is only 65 miles southeast of the Philippines.

President Reports on Plans To Care For Refugees of War

Washington, June 12—(AP)—President Roosevelt told congress today that as a final Nazi defeat approaches, "the fury of their insane desire to wipe out the Jewish race in Europe continues undiminished." "This is but one example," Mr. Roosevelt said in transmitting a report on arrangements for caring for war refugees. "Many Christian groups also are being murdered." "Knowing that they have lost the war, the Nazis are determined to complete their program of mass extermination. This program is but one manifestation of Hitler's aim to salvage from military defeat victory for Nazi principles—the very principles which this war must destroy unless we shall have fought in vain." The president outlined recently-completed arrangements to bring about 1,000 refugees to this country for temporary housing in a military camp near Oswego, N. Y. Facilities for caring for war refugees in southern Italy have become so overtaxed, he added, that unless arrangements to move them on can be made, the escape of other refugees will be "seriously impeded." Even before the Allies landed in Italy, he said, there had been a general movement of refugees from various countries into that area.

Rome is Rapidly Becoming Normal

Rome, June 12—(AP)—A week of Allied occupation finds Rome topsy-turvy in some respects, but surprisingly normal in others. The Romans by now have become accustomed to the sight of Doughboys in the streets, boisterous and friendly, and they apparently like them infinitely more than they did.

ENCIRCLING OF CHANGSHA IS INDICATED

Japan's Determined Campaign to Seal off Eastern China Mounting Toward Climax

PACIFIC FRONT NEWS

BULLETIN
Canton, June 12—(AP)—An indication that the city of Changsha was encircled was contained tonight in a communiqué of the Chinese high command which announced the Japanese were assaulting the Hunan province capital incessantly "from all directions."

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor
Japan's determined campaign to seal off eastern China against future Allied use mounted toward a climax today in the furious battle for Changsha.

Chinese troops ordered to fight to the last man were backed up against the outer defenses of this key link in the Hankow-Canton railway. They were resisting formidable forces which have pushed 200 miles southward from the Hankow area.

Another Japanese force, Chungking, reported, was driving northward out of Canton along the railroad, aiming at closing a vise on the off-embattled city. The gravity of the battle prompted Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault to declare the war could be prolonged for years if Japan were allowed to build a defensive wall along the railroad. The two-sided threat to Changsha, he added, had brought the China war to its most furious peak in six years.

The other four Pacific battle fronts were going well for the Allies. From New Dutch Guinea bases Allied airmen flew heavy bombers against Palau for their first daylight raid on this island group guarding the eastern Philippines. It was a portent of the new turn Gen. Douglas MacArthur's (Turn to Page Nine)

A one-time reporter on the old Wilkes-Barre Leader, Dr. Mundy was cited for heroic overseas service in World War I. Entering politics after establishing a large practice as a physician and surgeon, he was a delegate to the 1932 Democratic national convention and worked actively for President Roosevelt's first nomination. Coast Towns Are Rocked By Quake

Los Angeles, June 12—(AP)—A distinct earthquake of about one second's duration, swayed Los Angeles at 4:1 a. m. Pacific War Time today, following by half an hour a sharp shock felt in Laguna Beach, Pasadena and numerous portions of Los Angeles county.

There were no immediate reports of damage. The second shock also was noticeable in Pasadena and, in lesser intensity, in Long Beach, police said. Sheriff's deputies at the Malibu sub-station said they believed a landslide which a few hours earlier blocked the coast highway some 37 miles north may have been caused by an earthquake.

Give "Bottom Dollar" and "Last Shirt" Author's Plea

Indianapolis, June 12—(AP)—Booth Tarkington, noted Hoosier author, appealed today to citizens of the United States to give their "bottom dollar" and "last shirt" for the Fifth War Loan drive. Tarkington wrote in part: "If for us today invasion meant the opposite of what it does mean, that is, if America instead of Europe were the direction taken by the invasion, how would we be behaving? How would we, for instance, be responding to the United States treasury's Fifth War Loan drive?" "Of course, the answer is that, if America were being invaded we'd be giving our bottom dollar and our last shirt. Because, naturally, we'd rather save our skin than our shirts. The rewards for patriots who support this great lasting war with War Bonds are plain. Intangibly we gain emotional steadiness that comes from a clear conscience, from knowing we have done our best with dollars to back up our men with guns. "By buying and holding our war bonds we share in the fight, calm our own nerves, strengthen our land and, furthermore, we prepare for peace by storing up money that later when our bonds mature, we can spend for ourselves and our children at a time when peace shall have made spending useful rather than weakening and foolish.

Former Warren Griddler Is Helping County Bond Drive

A former Warren High School athlete is among the wounded war veterans who arrived in Warren yesterday and this morning launched the Fifth War Loan in Warren county.

The Warren youth is Gunner's Mate, Third Class, Frederick A. Irwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Irwin, formerly of this city. A former Dragon griddler, Irwin was also a member of the gymnastic team which took state honors in 1941.

He has been in the Navy over two years, spending eleven months in the South Pacific and three months in the South Atlantic area. He was aboard the cruiser Quincy when it was torpedoed off Guadalcanal. For the past two months he has been hospitalized at DeShon Hospital, Butler, for wounds received in the eastern theatre.

Arriving with Irwin yesterday were Sergeant Ben J. Borchert, of Cleveland, and Pfc. John J. Mascaro, of Brockway, Pa., both of whom were in the First Division and are veterans of the African and Sicilian campaigns. Sgt. Borchert has been in the army for three years and four months, 16 months of which were spent overseas. Pfc. Mascaro has been in service more than a year and a half and was with the 79th Ordinance, attached to the First Division. Both men received their wounds in the Sicilian campaign.

Expected to arrive today are Staff Sergeant Thomas W. Wilson, Technical Sergeant Raymond C. Talucci and Pfc. William S. Bryant, Jr.

Irwin, Borchert and Mascaro were driven to Warren yesterday from DeShon Hospital by D. C. Smith and E. V. Lesser. (Turn to Page Two)

25 Fishermen On Boat Are Missing

Bivalve, N. J., June 12—(AP)—The fishing boat Playboy with 25 Philadelphia war workers and its two owners aboard was missing today in Delaware bay.

Port Norris police, who were notified by telephone calls from families that the men had failed to return home last night, said they believed the Playboy had developed engine trouble and was somewhere adrift in the bay. The water was calm, police said.

The war workers, employees of the S. K. F. Ball Bearing Co., Philadelphia and Benjamin Bartley and Herbert Steritt, owners of the power-craft, started out early yesterday morning on a fishing trip. After the men were reported missing, state police found their five automobiles still parked near the boathouse and enlisted the aid of the searching party.

BATTLE LINES FAR IN FRANCE BEING STRAFED

OPPOSITION INCREASES

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force June 12—(AP)—L. S. pilots over France encountered today the strongest Luftwaffe resistance since the invasion began. Eighth Airforce headquarters announced tonight, but "pilots succeeded for the most part in carrying out their dive bombing and strafing missions behind German lines."

By GLADWIN HILL
Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, June 12—(AP)—American heavy bombers and streams of lighter craft pumped a steady hail of bombs and lead into German defenses today in the greatest aerial blows to date supporting the French invasion.

Flying in fine weather, the Allied air forces by noon had run up more sorties than all day yesterday—when 7,000 planes slammed the Germans from dawn on—after a night in which RAF bombers pounded four key rail centers in France went to Berlin—heavies, mediums, lights, fighter-bombers and fighters raced over the battlelines and far into France, bombing and strafing. Draft Change Creates Pool Of New Men

Washington, June 12—(AP)—The nation's draft procedure has been revised again, this time to create a common pool of available men upon which both the army and navy will draw. After July 1 men who pass their induction physicals no longer will be assigned to a specific service but will return home to await orders to report for duty. Only then will they know whether they have drawn the army or navy. Selective Service, in announcing the new arrangements, said changing needs of the armed forces have made it impossible to withdraw men from the present separate pools at an even rate, with the result that in some cases fathers were being taken by the navy while non-fathers in the same board still were awaiting calls from the army.

Selective Service also instructed local boards not to send up for induction men classified as fit for limited service only, unless ordered to do so by state selective service director.

"Odd Lot" Sale Of Shoes Promised

Washington, June 12—(AP)—Shoe purchasers will have a chance at about seven million pairs ration-free from July 10 to July 29 during a national "odd lot" sale, the Office of Price Administration announced today. And the shoes must cost at least 25 per cent less than their price on June 1, OPA declared.

This "odd-lot" sale will include footwear for men and women, boys sizes 1 to 6 but not children's, misses' and little boys' shoes which were included in the temporary ration-free shoes for three weeks in May. Less than 1.5 per cent of the estimated total supply of shoes for 1944 will be included in the July ration-free sales, OPA said.

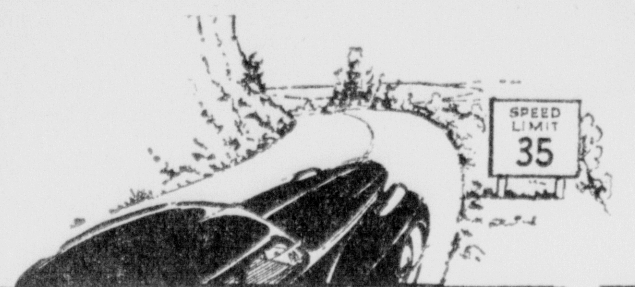

Lt. Sasserson Missing Over Bombed Area

The War Department has notified Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sasserson, 115 Park street, that their son, Lt. Stanley Gordon Sasserson, has been missing in action in the European Area since May 27. Formerly employed here by the Bell Telephone Company, Lt. Sasserson went overseas soon after receiving his wings and commission and is believed to have been lost on one of his first missions. It is not known just when he arrived in England, but a cablegram to Mrs. Sasserson for Mother's Day was the first word had from him from overseas. One V-Mail letter has arrived since that date.

Young Sasserson, in service a year in January, is co-pilot on a Liberator bomber.

Car Topples Over Sending 2 to Hospital

The culvert at Picnic Run yesterday evening sent another car hurtling over onto its top and three lads in the machine almost miraculously escaped certain death. The machine was driven by Donald Lauffenberger, 19 of Warren RD and he was on his way to meet some person so was allegedly "stepping on the gas". Near Picnic Run in attempting to pass another car he went off the highway and careened along for about 40 feet before hitting the culvert. State police investigated the accident.

Riding in the car with Lauffenberger were Thomas Youngquist, 15, of Clarendon and Gilbert Mead, 121 North Irvine street. Youngquist sustained bruises and brush burns and was given treatment in the emergency room of the hospital while Mead was examined and it was feared that he may have sustained internal hurts. MRS. JOHANNA LOUISE JOHNSON

Mrs. Johanna Louise Johnson, widow of Henry Johnson, well known and highly respected resident of Freehold township for many years, passed away in her sleep some time Saturday night. She had been in failing health for some time, but was around as usual Saturday retiring early in the evening. A physician, who was called told Coroner Ed Lowrey, she had been dead several hours.

She was married in James-town and resided at various times in the vicinity of Sheffield, Spring Creek and Wrightville. Plans For Community Flag Day Are Reported Completed

At a meeting of the committee in charge of the community flag day exercises sponsored by the Warren Lodge of Elks held Friday evening, it was revealed that plans are practically complete for the event which will take place Wednesday evening with a parade at seven o'clock followed by exercises on the lawn at the corner of Hickory street and Fourth avenue.

Much disappointment was expressed over the fact that a number of marching units which had been expected to appear reported they would not be represented. This situation was learned with considerable surprise because of the latest developments in the World War, with Allied Forces on the march on all fronts in Europe and gains reported in other sectors of the war-torn battle zones. It was emphasized by the committee that it is not too late for organizations and other groups to be entered and given a place in the parade formation. This may be done by contacting the editorial department of the Times-Mirror or Ben Kinnear, in charge of the parade.

The parade will form in Fourth avenue facing west, between Market and Hazel streets. It will start promptly at seven o'clock and move south on Hazel to Pennsylvania avenue, east to Market, north to Fourth and back to the Elk club to disband. While the crowd is gathering preceding the formal opening of the program the high school band will play in Hickory street in front of the club.

Col. Lucius McK. Crumrine, commander of the Third Battalion, Pennsylvania Infantry, who will be the speaker, is expected to arrive in Warren from Pittsburgh about five o'clock and with the wounded World War veterans who are in town, will be entertained at dinner as guests of the Elks. A regrettable omission in the parade orders printed Friday was brought to the attention of the committee in the fact that the name of the Civil Air Patrol, which will be one of the outstanding marching delegations, was not listed in the third division. This was not an oversight on the part of the committee, and satisfactory explanations have been made. The official parade orders will be printed tomorrow.

IN LOVING MEMORY
of my wife, who passed away one year ago.

I Will Praise Him
I will praise Him while I've breath.
I may soon be cold in death.
Then I'll wish I'd praised Him more
While upon this earthly shore.

I will praise Him for the life
He has freed' from sin and strife.
Then I'll praise Him o'er and o'er
Oh! for breath to praise Him more.

Praise Him for His love so sweet
Praise Him for the food we eat.
Praise Him for the grace and care
He has given us while here.

Praise Him while the devil tries
To draw us from this greatest prize.
For of all great things on earth
Jesus Christ, our Lord, is first.

I don't want the rocks and rills
Nor the gaily plumed hills,
To cry out His praise for me
I want to praise eternally.

Then when on the other shore
I will praise Him for evermore.
Let me praise Him while I've breath.
I may soon be cold in death.

Industrial Conference At Pittsburgh

Indications point to a large delegation from Warren for the 14th Annual Western Pennsylvania Industrial Conference, for industrial supervisors and executives, to be held Saturday of this week at Hotel Schenley in Pittsburgh. This conference is sponsored by the industrial department of the State YMCA, and the Foremen's Club of the Warren "Y" is promoting local attendance.

There will be three major addresses and three group conferences around specific problems. Registration opens at 9 a. m. and the closing event will be the dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. The first principal speaker will be The Hon. Everett M. Dirksen, congressman from Illinois, whose subject will be "Free Enterprise in the Future".

"The Place of the Supervisors in the Future" will be the topic of George T. Trundle, President of Trundle Engineering Company, of Cleveland, who will address the noon luncheon meeting. Featuring the evening dinner session will be the address of Dr. James Lee Ellenwood, State Executive of the YMCA of New York, whose subject will be "The Future". There is no more popular speaker for industrial affairs than Dr. Ellenwood, who addressed this conference two years ago and is returning because of the great demand for him.

Group of conference periods will discuss "Job Relations", "The Foreman and the Returning Service Man", and "The Foreman's Own Problems". For further information or registration cards, application should be made through the plant's Foreman's Club Governor, or to Ralph H. Wagner at the YMCA office.

MAKES A RECORD

Warren County has made a record for the week ending June 9. There were no checks sent into this county for that period in payment of unemployment compensation. In District No. 1 in which Warren is located Sharon and Oil City had the largest checks, Sharon receiving $260 and Oil City $240.

EPIDEMIC SPREADS

Warren during the past few days has been assailed by an epidemic of lost wallets containing goodly sums of money and in most instances the wallets have been returned. The latest to report the loss of a wallet is Arnold Maeder, 325 Park avenue. The wallet contained $23 or $24 in a draft and other valuable cards and papers.

LADY IN A WHIRL

By Esther Valck Georgons

Chapter 28
THE incessant ringing of her telephone awoke Zelda the next morning. It was Kennedy, the hotel manager.

"Miss Germaine," he said, "the place is full of reporters, waiting to see you."

"Well, I don't want to see them. What do they want to see me for?"

"Well, I suppose—have you seen the papers?"

Of course not. I'm not even awake yet. Send them up. The papers, I mean. And keep those fellows away from my room."

"I'll do my best, Miss Germaine."

Zelda leaped out of bed and ran through the bathroom into Cora's room. She shook the older woman awake. Cora sat up, befuddled, and Zelda handed her her glasses.

"Isn't there any peace and quiet any place?" Cora demanded irritably, settling her spectacles on her nose deliberately.

"Cora, there must be something in the papers about the count. Kennedy just called me and said the place is full of reporters."

"Well, what of it?"

At that moment the papers arrived. Zelda grabbed them. There was no need to unfold them. There, splashed across the front page, sharing space with the war news, was the story. Under the headline, "Glamor Girl Snared Smuggler," was a detailed account of Nick Calenti and his many illegal activities. It went on to tell how he had been trapped and brought to justice by the young society girl, Zelda Germaine. Miss Germaine had obtained a cigarette case from the count and turned it over to the police. The case had been covered with incriminating finger prints and had led to the identification of the criminal. Miss Germaine had assisted in the actual capture and had been wounded in the shoulder.

There was a picture of Zelda and the count handcuffed to a detective.

ZELDA put the paper down and regarded Cora severely.

"Cora, you know that cigarette case was your doings!"

"What difference does it make? I thought of it first, that's all. And anyway," she added righteously, "you were wounded."

"Yes, at last that much's true," Zelda said with relief. "But what am I going to do about those reporters downstairs?"

"Have them up, of course."

Zelda picked up the telephone and told the girl at the switchboard that she would see the newspaper men, if there were any still waiting, as soon as she had dressed.

After the interview she returned to Cora's room.

"There," she said, "that's over. Now I'm getting out of here."

"Me, too," said Cora. I can hardly wait to get back to the mountains."

"I'm not going back to the mountains. I'm going to do what I wanted to do in the first place. I'm going to Mexico."

"YOU'LL go alone because I'm not going with you," proclaimed Cora, and neither urging or coaxing could make her change her mind.

"I've been in a raid. I've been kidnapped. I've been pushed off a mountain, and that's enough for now," she said finally. "I'm going back and sit on that porch."

ing day. Then she got them and called Pete to tell him that she was leaving.

"What about, Cora?" he wanted to know.

"She says she isn't going, Pete," Zelda laughed, "but I'm not won'ting. I've got a compartment and I'll bet you ten to one when the train leaves she'll be in it."

But Cora was adamant. She refused to go to Mexico City. When they were in the taxi on their way to the station she said: "Suppose you get sick down there all alone. Who'd look after you?"

"I'm sure I don't know, but there'd be somebody."

"Say, it's funny Pete didn't show up, isn't it?" said Cora suddenly.

"He called," Zelda told her, "early this morning. He had to go see some music publisher. Something about his symphony. He said if he didn't get through there in time to come to the hotel he'd be at the station."

But he didn't show up and when the gates to Zelda's train were opened, and he was still not there, she became a little concerned.

"Look," she told Cora, "I'll get on. You go call Donner and Smith—that's where he said he was going—and see if he's still there. Likely he was detained."

Cora trotted towards a telephone booth and Zelda found her compartment on the train. After awhile she looked at her watch and was startled to see that it lacked but one minute of leaving time.

Uncertain as to just what course to pursue, she stepped out into the passageway—and collided with Cora.

"Zelda," Cora puffed, "I told you something must have happened. Pete is in the hospital!"

LADY IN A WHIRL

By Esther Valck Georgons

Chapter 29
"HOSPITAL! Are you sure?" Zelda demanded.

"Yes," Cora replied breathlessly. "I talked to Mr. Donner. He said Pete was taken sick at their office. They've already operated for acute appendicitis—at St. Stephens."

"Well, don't stand there like a post," Zelda told her. "Come on, we'll have to get off this train."

"But Zelda—"

"Don't stand there like that!" Zelda yanked her towards the door. "Wait. My dressing case. She flew back and got it."

They hurried up the platform. Suddenly Zelda realized that her purse was still in the compartment.

"I'll get it," Cora purred. "You go on."

"Hurry," Zelda told her. "I'll go on to the hospital."

Cora ran back. There was no time to lose. She scrambled onto the train and through the corridor to Zelda's compartment. Seizing the purse, which she found on the seat, she turned to leave.

But suddenly a colored porter barred her path.

"What are you doing here?" he wanted to know. "This Miss Germaine's compartment."

"I know whose compartment it is," Cora snapped. "Get out of my way. I've got to get off this train."

The porter spotted the two handbags—her own and Zelda's—both dangling from her arm. His eyes bulged and he stood firm.

Cora said: "Will you let me by! I've got to get off this train!" "Oh, no," came the reply.

"Sorry ma'am, I'm goin' to get the conductor."

In the meantime Zelda had made her way to the street and hailed a taxi.

"St. Stephens," she told the driver. "And hurry."

Traffic was heavy and the driver did the best he could, but it seemed as though he crawled. Added to that, every light was red. Zelda sat tensely on the edge of the seat.

Oh, Pete, she thought, please don't die! Even if you do love some other girl.

Zelda's mind hesitated over that. What girl? She went over her female friends and acquaintances one by one and dismissed them all. If it had been any of them she would have known it.

Whoever she is, Zelda thought, she's a fool not to grab him. There aren't many like Pete. And now—he was going to die, maybe.

The thought left her weak. But Pete mustn't die. Life without Pete was unthinkable. He and Cora were all she had. And suddenly Zelda knew that they were the only ones she wanted. Life without either of them would be a lonely affair. Life without Pete would be unthinkable. Because she had been so used to him, she had never realized how dearly she loved him.

The blocks crawled past slowly.

"I could walk faster," Zelda said aloud. "We'll never get there."

But they did, finally, and she hurried up the steps.

"I'm Miss Zelda Germaine," she told the girl at the desk. "I've come to see Mr. Nickols. How is he?"

"Just a minute, please."

The girl talked to someone on the telephone, and then, "He's still unconscious, Miss Germaine," she told Zelda, "but you may go up, Room 607."

"Thank you. My friend, Miss Pettit, may arrive at any moment. Will you please send her up when she comes?"

"The door of 607 was closed. I Zelda tapped gently, and a nurse let her in. Pete lay silently, looking ghastly white, but his eyes were open.

"He's just coming to," the nurse said.

Zelda knelt beside the bed, taking one of Pete's cold hands in both her warm ones.

"Pete," she said softly.

"Oh, darling," he murmured between breaths, "so you've come."

Zelda thought: He's delirious. His hand clung tightly to Zelda's. "Don't go," he said faintly.

"I won't," Zelda assured him. "I shan't leave you, dear. Just be quiet."

The nurse brought a chair and motioned Zelda to sit down. "I'm certainly glad you came. He's been calling for you ever since he got off the table," she whispered.

"For me?"

"Nobody else," the nurse assured her.

It was nearly an hour later when Pete opened his eyes again. "Hello, angel face," he said, his voice scarcely audible. "Where's Cora?"

"I don't know!" she realized Cora should have appeared long ago, but her mind was all on Pete. "This girl," Zelda said. "You know, the girl you love. Wouldn't you like to see her? Shall I call her for you?"

Soldier Vote Canvass Opens Over State Next Wednesday

The canvass for names and addresses of Pennsylvania's men, women serving in the Armed Forces and War Services throughout the world so they may be sent ballots for the November election, will begin on Flag Day, Wednesday, June 14.

"This canvass is expected to contact a million homes. It is probably the greatest endeavor undertaken in the history of the Commonwealth in behalf of its sons and daughters in National Service," said Doctor Ralph Cooper, Executive Director of the State Council of Defense, which by act of the recent Special Session of the Legislature, has been charged with the duty and responsibility for the canvass. "It has been most heartening to learn of the generous offers of not only people enrolled in the War Services and Protective Branches of our more than 1200 Councils of Defense in Pennsylvania, but from individual members of Veterans' posts, of Women's Clubs, Service Clubs, Service Clubs and numerous other organizations. No one need lack for Canvass cards. They have been sent by the tens of thousands and in some instances by the hundreds of thousands to Chairmen of County Councils of Defense who will handle the distribution of the necessary supplies.

"There are two matters want particularly to bring to the attention of the people. One is, that canvassers will have credentials showing authority to ask the few simple questions on the canvassers cards. The other is, that people interrogated for names and addresses of their folks in the National service should give just the information asked and nothing else, we don't want any information beyond what the law expects us to obtain, but we do hope what we need will be immediately available when the canvassers call.

"Governor Martin has worked out the most liberal plan, carrying through Pennsylvania's traditional policy of opportunity to vote and we will get the names of those eligible in time for them to be sent the ballots."

Sunday Was Busy Day At Sylvania Plant

Employees of the Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., were busy Sunday moving and setting new machinery in the new addition to the plant which has been practically completed. There is a large amount of machinery to move and set and the men engaged in this task performed a most Herculean job in getting most of it in shape for operations this morning.

When the day shift reported this morning many of them were placed at work on the machines. The opening of the new addition will allow many additional girls and women to be engaged and all applications must be made through the Manpower Commission, 225 Pennsylvania avenue, west.

Landscape plantings are now being made about the new plant and when all of the lawns are levelled and seeded and the shrubbery in place the appearance of the big branch of the Sylvania will be highly attractive.

Boys Return Money Taken From Stores

The five boys who were implicated in the robberies of the Julius Johnson store on Jefferson street and the confectionary store of Mrs. Anna Larason, Pennsylvania avenue, east have made full restitution of the sums taken. The boys when in court last week agreed to return all the money taken and returned to Mrs. Larason $150 and to Mr. Johnson $12.50 which he thought was the value of the cigarettes, etc., taken from his store. The return of the money was made through the police department.

Two fellows who had a truck on Conewango avenue were seized up by the police and found to be in no condition to drive the vehicle. So the boys were brought to police headquarters to cool off.

Sunday several small boys got into a house on Fifth avenue, west and what a mess they made. They got hold of eggs, flour, beans, etc., and succeeded in getting the food stuffs all over the place out on the porch and on the sidewalk. They were all little fellows but they wasted about $4 worth of stuff. The lads were rounded up and their parents will pay for the stuff destroyed. Maybe the lads were looking for Wheaties, eh?

Why a Farmer Should Buy and Keep War Bonds

by O. G. Lloyd
Head, Dept. of Agricultural Economics
Purdue University

FOR more than 16 months farmers have enjoyed the most favorable exchange of farm dollars for bond dollars in more than a quarter of a century. Based upon 1933-39 as 100, farmers have sold farm products at the average ratio of $140 for every $100 paid, including interest and taxes. This ratio compares most favorably with the decade 1920-29 with a ratio of 105 and especially with the decade 1930-39 when the ratio fell to 69 or an $11 loss compared to the base period of 100 in 1933-39.

Granting that the post war period price level will not fall lower than the level of 1933-39 for a long period of time, the advantage of exchanging farm dollars for War Bonds is obvious. Ordinary business transactions are made on a margin of less than 10 percent compared to this extraordinary exchange of 40 percent.

To obtain the 40 percent advantage of inflationary farm dollars, it is necessary to keep the War Bonds until prices are deflated to the 1933-39 level. In the meantime the interest paid on the investment will increase the value of the bond 33 1/3 percent or a War Bond costing $75 will be redeemed by the Government at $100.

During periods of stationary and of falling prices of farm products, which are probable during the next decade, farming will have urgent demands for liquid capital which can be readily turned into cash for equipment and improvements. Such expenditures wisely made pay big dividends through more economical production which meets current demand. At such periods the wise farmer is not handicapped for operating capital if he owns War Bonds. Backed by the credit of the Government, War Bonds are so secure and so readily convertible into purchasing power that they exceed the land itself as a means of providing ready cash.

The discipline of following a budget which requires savings for investment, promotes prudent spending of time and money. When the amount for spending is reduced in order to invest for private and public benefit, an increased satisfaction is gained by a new evaluation of current needs in terms of making the investment goals possible. It is little wonder then that such War Bond purchasers marvel that current needs are met about as fully as before and the bond seems to be more of a gift than of a sacrifice of present wants. Savings for buying War Bonds are obtained, therefore, with the least friction of daily living when accompanied by judicious spending.
Farming is an occupation which offers an excellent example of the American principle of free enterprise. Farmers should buy War Bonds and keep them because their industry and efficiency have given them the highest production per man of farmers in any country. Without high production per man, there cannot be much to spend on current needs, much to save for purchase of War Bonds and much to give to any worthy cause. Now that high purchasing power of farm products is accompanied by high physical production of farm products per man, the income of farmers has been increased correspondingly and farmers are able and willing to buy War Bonds. Such purchases are not only a smart investment for high economic and patriotic returns, but farmers can avail themselves of the opportunity today because they do have the money to make the purchase of the War Bonds and should keep them in order to obtain the highest returns on the investment.

5TH WAR LOAN

STARTS TODAY!

IT'S FOR INVASION!
FOR VICTORY!
FOR YOUR BOY!

WHY YOU ARE ASKED TO
INVEST MORE
During the "ZERO HOUR" Drive

Now, as America goes all out for invasion—your dollars must join the fight, too! No matter how much you have done—you must do more! It is a solemn duty for every American to buy MORE War Bonds during the 5th WAR LOAN DRIVE—to keep the attack going—to help safeguard your country and your own boys in the fight. The job is big—you've got to dig!

It's a question of simple arithmetic: War costs more today than ever—and during invasion, the demands for supplies reach their peak. A heavy bomber costs about $250,000. A 155 mm. howitzer costs $23,000. Fighter planes cost $50,000.

Invasion barges, tanks, field guns cost thousands upon thousands of dollars. Invasion demands more and ever more fighting equipment to insure Victory. The money must come from every patriotic American at home.

BOOST YOUR PLEDGE

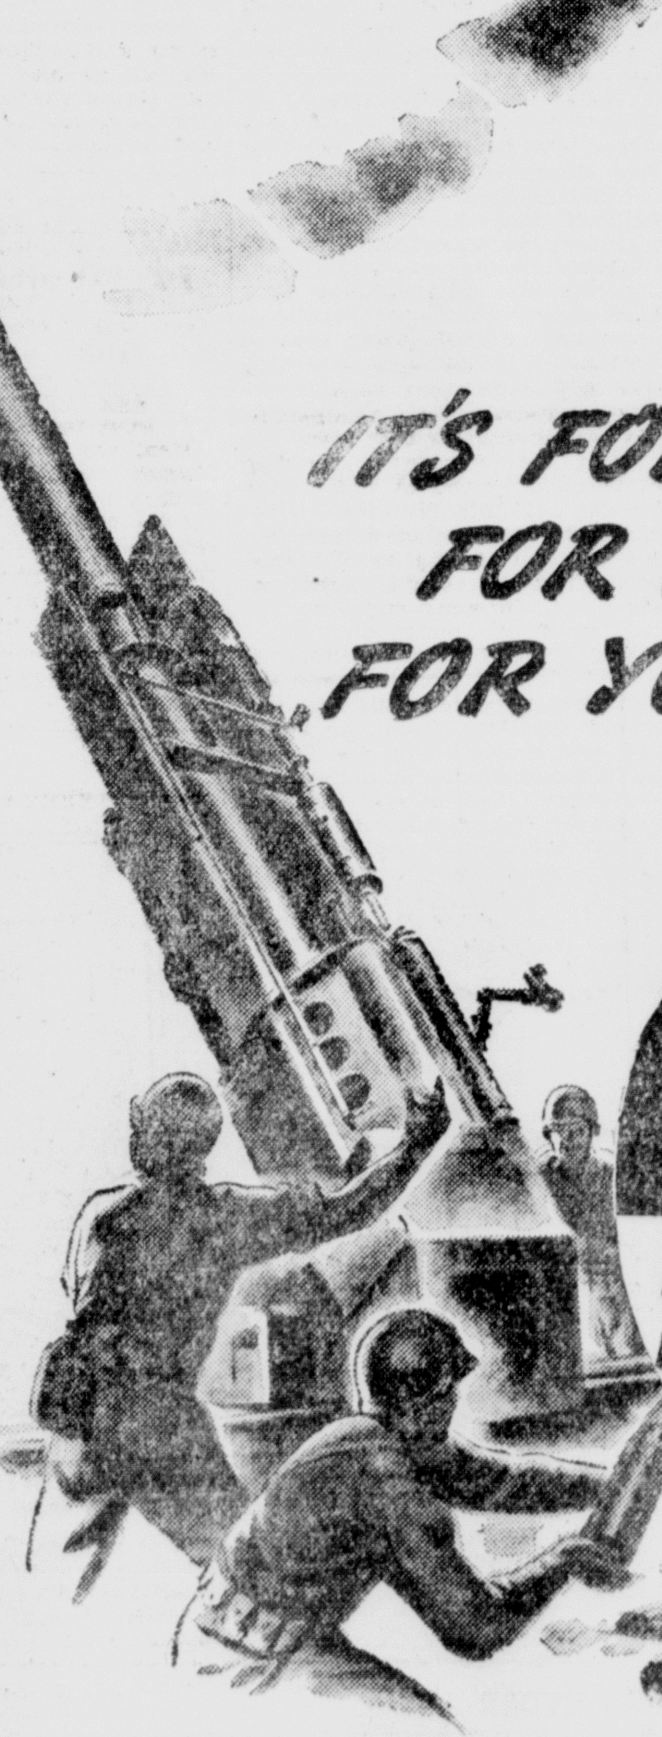

As America faces its "Zero Hour", our armed forces march unflinchingly forward. They are ready to die if need be.

Yanks Lose 11 of Last 13 Starts But Are Still Very Much in the League Running

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

They may be slipping, but don't count the world champion New York Yankees out of the running in the American League baseball race—not yet, anyway.

The Yanks lost a doubleheader to the Boston Red Sox yesterday, 2 to 1 and 4 to 1, extending their string of defeats to 11 of their last 13 starts.

But last year the Yanks were barely hanging onto first place by a few percentage points, and just when things looked blackest they won eight in a row and followed through by winning the flag and the World Series.

Tex Hughson and Clem Hausmann pitched the Red Sox to their double triumph. Hughson's effort was a three-hit masterpiece. In addition, he was in the winning run in the opener by getting an infield hit with the bases loaded.

Meantime the St. Louis Cardinals, National League champs, gained two games over their nearest competitors by whipping Cincinnati twice, 3 to 1 and 4 to 1, while the Chicago Cubs shut out Pittsburgh twice, 5 to 0 and 1 to 0.

The Cards set a league record for doubleheaders in the opener and five in the nightcap, in backing up six-hit twirling by both George Mueger and Harry Gumbert. Walker Cooper, Whitey Kumbert and Danny Litwiler hit consecutive homers for the Cards in the nightcap.

Paul Erickson turned in a two-hitter and Bob Chipman a five-hitter for the Cubs as they blanked the Pirates. Umpire George Magerkurth banished both Manager Frankie Frisch and Outfielder Johnny Barrett of the Pirates, after an argument in the opener.

The Chicago White Sox beat Dizzy Trout, 4 to 2, for their eighth straight triumph in the first game of a twin bill with Detroit, but had their streak snapped in the afterpiece when Stubby Overmire won, 1 to 0, on Royce York's ninth inning single. Detroit's Sox climbed into third place as the Sox went into a fourth place tie with the Yanks.

A grand slam seventh inning home run by Pinch Hitter Gene Moore gave the first place St. Louis Browns a split with Cleveland. The Indians easily took the opener, 13 to 1 behind Mel Harder, b. Moore's round-tripper in the nightcap gave Bob Muncie and the Browns a 4 to 2 triumph. Umpire Charley Berry banished Manager Luke Sewell of the Browns, in the second game.

The New York Giants swept a doubleheader from the Phillies, both by scores of 6 to 5 with the second game going 12 innings, before Phil Weintraub singled Mel Ott home with the winning tally. Nap Reyes' ninth inning single won the opener.

Bobo Newsom and Luman Harris, aided by Joe Bero's relief pitching, twirled the Philadelphia Athletics to a double win over Washington, 6 to 1 and 6 to 5, pushing the Senators back into the cellar.

Brooklyn and the Boston Braves divided their twin bill.

Forgers Defeat Fast North East Team by Scores of 1-0

National Forge made it six straight Sunday when they defeated North East A. C. 1 to 0. Hines was again in form allowing four hits and kept the well scattered.

Neither team was able to score throughout the game until Forge pushed their lone tally across in the last half of the ninth inning. Geigerich fled out, Natale singled. Hines grounded to the pitcher who threw to second but the baseman failed to touch either bag or runner and everybody was safe.

Cresla was given a base on balls, J. Massa, with the count two balls and one strike, watched a wild pitch sail by the catcher and Natale came over with the winning run.

A fair sized crowd was on hand to watch the third consecutive 1-0 game, and although satisfied, were a little disappointed in the dead ball that is being used in these games. The management states that it is impossible to obtain any Spaulding, Reach or Wilson balls in Warren and the team has only access to the cheaper brand. A dozen Spaulding balls were obtained from the North East club and will be used Sunday, June 18th, and if the game again ends 1 to 0 a free contest will be put on at Wilder field some evening, with no charge whatever.

Geigerich and Rosequist, with two hits each were leading hitters for Forge, Natale and Morrison getting the others. No box score was available for this game. Incidentally an exciting game is anticipated at the State Hospital field Thursday evening when the Forgers and Struthers Wells clash at six o'clock.

PONY LEAGUE

Buffalo, N. Y., June 12.—(P)—Southpaw Bob Pirelli is the fair-haired lad today among Wellsville Pony League fans.

After Batavia had trounced the Yankees 13-2 in the opener of a doubleheader yesterday, Pirelli not only held the Clippers to four hits in the seven-inning nightcap, but batted out a run in the fifth that gave Wellsville a 2-1 victory.

The first-place Lockport Cubs split a doubleheader with Hornell. Bob Lilko won the first half for the Pirates, 2-1, when he drove out a home run with one on in the ninth inning. In the second game, the Cubs rallied to score five runs in the seventh for a 6-4 triumph.

The Olean Oilers lost both halves of a twin-bill to Jamestown, 3-2 and 10-2, and moved back into the league cellar. Erie defeated Bradford, 12-6.

Today's games: Lockport at Olean; Wellsville at Erie; Bradford at Batavia; Jamestown at Hornell.

Iron Workers Top Vikings At Titusville

Titusville Herald: A fair crowd, considering that two strange teams were operating, turned out at Carter Field yesterday to watch the Warren Struthers-Wells club operate its campaign in Titusville by defeating the Vikings of Jamestown, N. Y., 8 to 7.

A four run blast in the ninth inning brought victory to Warren after Jamestown went ahead with four runs in the sixth.

Although touched for 11 hits, R. Mee went the route for Jamestown and struck out ten of the Struthers-Wells sluggers. His battery mate, Rosean, poled out the longest ball, a home run, while Shortstop Yanni collected two doubles.

Pitcher Schussler, of Warren, crashed out a triple.

Small Arms Firing School Continues Training Riflemen

It was announced today that any person anticipating military service will be given an opportunity to receive rifle marksmanship training under the nation-wide program sponsored by the National Rifle Association with the co-operation of the War Department and which school is conducted locally at the Warren State Armory.

The instructors of the Warren Rifle Club and the Complanter Gun Club. The 27th class will begin on Thursday night, beginning at 7:30 p. m. and persons may still enroll for this course. This instruction course will cover the following basic subjects: Nomenclature of rifle and cartridge, to give the students a general knowledge of the important working parts of any military rifle they might use.

Safety, to show how guns can be handled with no chance of an accident; Shooting positions and the use of the rifle sling, teaching approved military positions; Sight-seeing and aiming; Trigger release and sight adjustment. Concluding the school an opportunity will be given the students to fire for the nationally recognized N.R.A. qualification insignia, all successful graduates will be awarded certificates from the Association. Classes will be held only on Thursday nights, for a six-weeks period. The school will be conducted with military type .22 caliber rifles. Local club officials disclosed that their course also coincides with that of the NRA to the extent that it will train its men to be instructors in addition to giving them fundamental marksmanship training for themselves. Recruits already trained in marksmanship lighten considerably the burden on military instructors and may be called upon to assist in instruction of other recruits. Enrollment now for the next class, over 400 men have already received this training and those who are in the service recommend this training course. You may contact the following instructors: Roger Mahaffy, Pat Dorrance, Perry Sweet, John H. Schuler, Norman Kuhre, or Paul W. Yagge.

Byrd, the ex-outfielder of the New York Yankees, who turned pro in 1937, won the Inquirer's 72-hole medal play marathon here yesterday with 274—seven strokes ahead of second place Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and 10 under par.

Not one of the field of 129 menaced Byrd from the start as he took a two-stroke lead with a par-shattering 66, stretched it to three with a second round, 67, and jumped it to seven with a 69 on the third tour.

But Byrd, brilliant as his performance was, had to share the spotlight with a fellow townsman, 23-year-old public linker and amateur Ed Furgol. The youngster, 4-F in the draft because of a rigid left elbow caused by a playground fall when he was 12, led the amateurs with 283. True, he was 21 strokes back of Byrd, but he beat out a healthy bunch of simon-pures.

Furgol is no Johnny-come-lately to the golfing wars, but he has everyone wondering how he can hit that ball so well with his shrunken left arm, which is about seven inches shorter than his right.

Want to Autograph a Bomb For Hitler or Tojo?

"How would you like to autograph a Bomb which will be sent either to Tojo or Hitler?" When we were asked this question this morning by a coworker of Metzger-Wright's, we said that we would like nothing better. "Then," she said, "Buy a Series 'E' Bomb of any denomination and you can do just that."

Inquiring into the matter further, we found that the Metzger-Wright Company has secured the motion for its store. This is sponsored by the U. S. Treasury in cooperation with TEXTRON, one of the nation's largest manufacturers of wartime parachutes, tents, and hammocks to promote the sale of the Fifth War Loan Bonds.

Each person making a purchase of a Series 'E' Bomb from any member of the Metzger-Wright organization will have the privilege of personally autographing a Textron Bomb-Bond label which will be pasted on a bomb at Army Ordnance Depots, and sent directly to Europe or the Pacific area—which ever he may choose. The price of the Bomb determines the kind of bomb to be sent: A $25 Bomb will buy a Fragmentation Bomb; $50 Bomb a 100 lb. All-Purpose Bomb; $100 Bomb a 500 lb. All-Purpose Bomb; $500 Bomb buys a 2000 lb. All-Purpose Bomb; and a $1000 Bomb buys a 4000 lb. Block-Buster. One may autograph as many as one buys Bonds.

Every coworker of the Metzger-Wright Company is back of the Fifth War Loan Drive. The goal set for the store is $50,000 which is far in excess of the $300 per employee which the Treasury Department has asked all retail employees to set for their employees. During the Fourth War Bond Drive the Employees sold $60,000 worth of Bonds and it is secretly hoped by each coworker that this figure will be topped during this drive.

Furthermore, there will be on display in one of the Liberty street windows, a Textron Fragmentation Bomb Chute—these bombs are showered by the thousands on German and Japanese air ports, supply lines, and troop concentrations. They burst on contact with the ground, spraying metal fragments in all directions with deadly effect, a Nylon Two-Man Mountain Tent, used by the Army's Mountain Infantry and Ski Troops; and a Jungle Hammock, which is used by the Jungle Troops. All this window material was sent direct from the Treasury Department to Metzger-Wright's. Full details are presented on the back page of this issue.

Warren County Fliers Aiding Allies to Victory in Europe

A Ninth Air Force Service Command unit somewhere in England today, reports that two Pennsylvanians, 1st Sgt. Clarence L. Gould, Clarendon, and T/Sgt. Harry J. Punskey, of Warren, entered the army together in April, 1942, and are still together in England today, having gone through basic and advanced training in the States without separation.

Both are assigned to a depot supply company operating with the Ninth Air Force Service Command. Before entering service, Sgt. Gould, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gould, of Tylersburg, was employed by the William Crossett Company, Clarendon. Sgt. Punskey's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Punskey, 12 Linwood street, this city.

Also of much interest are two special reports from another unit of the Air Service Command concerning commendations for Sgt. Kenneth C. Anderson, Warren RD 2, and Cpl. Melvin F. Moylan, of Kinzua.

Sgt. Anderson and the men of his division help to keep our combat planes the best in the aerial title being fought over Germany adding the most up to date improvements to ships after the new inventions have been perfected. Before entering the army, he was employed as inspector for the Aero Supply at Corry.

Cpl. Moylan, son of Mrs. Lena Moylan, is one of the Air Force soldiers whose job it is to see that some of the world's most intricate instruments will do their job during those crucial "thirty seconds over the target".

Both men were among those recently commended by Lt. General Carl A. Spaatz, commanding general of the United States Strategic Air Forces in Europe, when production at the depot was increased by more than 100 per cent.

From a similar news source comes word that Pvt. Bob R. Dixon, whose wife resides at 18 Myrtle street, is now serving as a sheet-metal man in a busy Air Service Command aircraft repair depot. He has been overseas since last October and before going into the army on July 28, 1943, was employed as a sheet metal aircraft worker at the army air base at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Kane Man Known Here Wins Fine Promotion

Relatives and friends in this section will be interested in an announcement through a special dispatch from an Eighth AAF bombardment division headquarters in England that Carl G. Nelson, of Kane, son of Andrew A. Anderson, of Sheffield, has been promoted from technician fourth grade to sergeant.

Sgt. Nelson is a teletype maintenance man, responsible for keeping in perfect working order this 24-hour a day equipment. A breakdown in the machine would tie up the remaining circuits and delay important messages which are essential for the successful operation of the division's Liberators and Fortresses.

Prior to his entry into the army in April, 1942, Sgt. Nelson was graduated in 1936 from Sheffield High School and worked for the Bell Telephone Company. His wife lives in Kane and he has a sister, Lt. Alice C. Nelson, who is an army nurse in North Ireland.
